Possibility McKeon Drunk Raised At Trial

Intoxication Test Results Go In Record

Sergeant's Account Of Death March Read At His Court-Martial

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., July 25 (AP)—The possibility S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was drunk when he marched his recruits into Ribbon Creek was raised at his court-martial today for the first time. Six young Marines drowned on the April 8 death march.

The startling prosecution evidence, not hitherto revealed, brought defense attorney Emile Zola Berman to his feet, shouting objections. He argued loud and hard, his face purple with anger. But in the end the evidence — a blood test for intoxication — went into the record, but without evaluation.

"The offense of intoxication creates prejudice," Berman roared. "It is our contention of overwhelming prejudice by this evidence to the rights of this defendant."

"I regard this as very, very vital."

It was 8 p.m. April 8 that McKeon marched recruit Platoon 71 in the dark into Ribbon Creek. He is undergoing court-martial for the death of the six drowned boys.

McKeon's Account Read

In another moment of high drama in this biggest court day thus far, McKeon's own account of the death march was read into the record for the first time. He made it in a statement April 9 to a Marine legal investigator.

McKeon, in the statement, told of his difficulties with undisciplined members of Platoon 71. He continued:

"About 1300 (1 p.m.) I got the idea to take them out into the swamps that night, thinking I could teach them some discipline . . . All during the afternoon I had some drinks from a bottle, I think three or four drinks.

"Three-fourths of the platoon were squared away but the rest were foul balls."

The drill instructor told of marching the platoon in columns of two into Ribbon Creek and later taking them into deeper water. He continued:

"I heard some men to my right, out towards the center of the stream, yelling for help. I would

British Backer Slain On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus, July 25 (AP) — Bullets in the back and head killed Edgar Charles Bonicci, a young pro-British businessman, before the eyes of his fiancee as they walked to lunch today.

Bonicci, a 24-year-old Maltese, fell dead on crowded Hippocrates Street—known as "Bloody Alley" for past killings there by Greek Cypriot gunmen—as he groped vainly for a shoulder-holstered revolver he carried as a volunteer police constable.

His fiancee, Drossoulla Demetriades, 22, dropped beside the body weeping, and vowed vengeance.

"I know who did it," she said. "I will kill him."

A Greek Cypriot herself, employed as a clerk in the Cyprus Broadcasting Service, she said she was sure the killer was a member of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground that is fighting for union of this British island colony with Greece.

Police investigators, however, doubt that Miss Demetriades knew the killer. They questioned her and sen. her home. A British report said the eight-shot attack, in which four bullets found their mark, was made by an "unknown assailant or assailants."

Liners Collide, Send Out SOS

BOSTON, July 25 (AP)—The transatlantic liners Andrea Doria and Stockholm collided tonight in a dense Atlantic fog off Nantucket Island. The Coast Guard reported the 29,000-ton Andrea Doria listing so badly life boats could not be lowered.

The first SOS flashed from the stricken Andrea Doria, an Italian liner out of Genoa, about 11:30 P.M. (EDT). The ship was due to dock in New York City tomorrow with 1,134 passengers aboard.

Minutes later, the Coast Guard said, the Stockholm, operated by the Swedish American Line, sent out a distress signal.

The Coast Guard said the Stockholm, a 12,600-ton, 510-foot motor ship, had its bow "stove in" and its No. 1 hold flooded. But the vessel appeared to be in less danger than the Italian ship.

The Coast Guard first reported that the Andrea Doria passengers were abandoning ship.

The Stockholm was reported lowering life boats.

Another liner, the Cape Ann, was reported at the scene and lowered all eight of its life boats in a rescue operation.

Four Coast Guard boats from the metropolitan New York area were dispatched to the scene, 60 miles southeast of Nantucket Island.

The Andrea Doria sailed on her maiden voyage from Genoa, Italy, on Jan. 14, 1953. When she was introduced into trans-Atlantic service, Italian Line officials said she was capable of making the Genoa-Naples-New York run in nine days. Her hull is of special quality steel.

The Stockholm was built in 1948 at Goteborg, Sweden. She is said to be the largest motor ship ever built by Sweden.

Stassen Reports Nixon Ran Last In Opinion Poll

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Harold Stassen said today Vice President Nixon made the poorest showing of eight possible running mates for President Eisenhower in a recent confidential sampling of public sentiment.

Stassen, trying hard to revive his battered "dump Nixon" campaign, discussed an opinion poll which he helped sponsor during the past four weeks.

He told an impromptu news conference that the results support his contention that Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts is the strongest vice presidential choice the Republicans could make.

Stassen said, however, that he "certainly" would immediately scrap his attempt to boom Herter should Eisenhower publicly throw unqualified support to Nixon.

The President's special assistant for disarmament matters seemed undaunted by Herter's agreement to personally nominate Nixon at the Republican National Convention. Stassen implied that GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall had begun arranging this when he learned in advance of Stassen's plans.

Herter's move creates "some difficulty psychologically," Stassen said, but does not rule him out as a potential successor to Nixon.

Questioned about the opinion poll Stassen said it listed among the vice presidential possibilities Nixon, Herter, Stassen himself and five others. He declined to name the others but said the results probably will be made public by this weekend.

At a news conference yesterday, Stassen said he and four or five other Republicans had financed an opinion sampling. He refused to name the others.

Some Republican leaders who favor Nixon have bitterly denounced Stassen and called for his resignation. But Stassen commented on this point:

"I'd say the reaction has been less extreme than I thought on the part of the right wing."

He said telegrams and letters which he has received are running heavily in favor of his action.

House Would Ban Airborne Cocktail

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The House voted today to outlaw the airborne cocktail.

It passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate a bill forbidding airlines to "sell or otherwise furnish" alcoholic beverages to passengers on domestic flights.

Opponents said no airline accident has ever been traced to liquor sold to passengers, that some airlines objected to the bill, and that passengers could still take their own bottles aboard.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) said the bill is "just a so-called sop to the dries."

Crippled Vet's Swim Pool Took Time And Courage

TUCSON, Ariz., July 25 (AP) — Robert Hall hasn't been able to walk without crutches since a Japanese shell wounded him on Saipan in 1944. Yet, he has just finished building a swimming pool with his own hands.

The ex-Marine from Terryville, Conn., his wife and three children have been Tucson residents for a year and a half, living on his $280-a-month pension.

Hall never had built anything until he tried his hand at a barbecue pit. It came out fine. Then he got the idea of the swimming pool.

On March 13 he swung himself on crutches to the middle of his backyard and measured a rectangle 15 by 30 feet. Then he got a shovel, a digging bar and a folding metal chair and sat down at a corner of the rectangle.

After loosening earth with the bar, he pushed the shovel into the ground, and, bracing his forearm across his lap for leverage, managed to lift out a shovelful.

He dumped the dirt into a wheelbarrow. After an hour the wheelbarrow was full. He called his wife Eleanor. She emptied it in the far corner of the yard.

When the digging was done, he had eight and a half cubic yards of cement laid on the bottom. Then he began laying concrete blocks along the sides, filling them with cement.

Two months and 10 days after he lifted his first shovel full of earth, Hall turned a valve and water ran into his pool — 10,000 gallons of it. Then the kids jumped in.

"I got my money back just from watching them the first day," he said.

Border Tense After Jordan, Israeli Clash

Another U.N. Truce Observer Wounded In New Incidents

JERUSALEM, July 25 (AP) —Jordan and Israel forces exchanged heavy fire today in the Judean Hills west of Jerusalem, and minor shooting incidents erupted on the Syrian and Egyptian frontiers.

Six Jordanian soldiers, one civilian and the Jordan member of the mixed Jordanian-Israeli Armistice Commission were wounded in a series of four clashes in the Jerusalem area, center of rising tension over a succession of Arab-Israeli incidents. There were no reports of Israeli casualties.

Third U. N. Casualty

Another United Nations truce observer, Swedish Col. Erik Helge Thaalin, was wounded. He is the third U. N. casualty in two days of efforts to end shootings and mine incidents along the tense frontier that marks a narrow neck of Israel jutting into Jordan territory in Palestine. Jordan reported its member of the Mixed Armistice Commission, Capt Mohammed Barghouti, also was wounded.

Israel, blaming the Jordanians for the incidents and for the shot which struck the U. N. observer, protested to the commission. An Israeli Foreign Minister spokesman called the incidents a "cease-fire breach by Jordan."

Jordan Blames Israel

"These continuous acts of aggression are a telling and provocative reply to the latest attempt by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to prevent a collapse of the cease-fire under the impact of Jordanian outrages," he added.

Jordan blames the Israelis for the outbursts. A Jordanian military spokesman, calling the frontier situation "very tense," reported that Israeli positions opened the fire early in the morning, with small and medium automatic weapons.

Cain, Security Program Critic, Will Quit Board

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The White House announced today that Harry P. Cain, crusading critic of the administration's employe security program, had resigned from the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Cain said a month ago he would be delighted to serve another three-year term but that he suspected President Eisenhower would not renominate him.

Today the White House said his resignation had been accepted. Cain made the resignation effective on the expiration of his term Aug. 9 although offering to stay on beyond that date, until his successor is qualified.

Expect Successor Soon

In a brief letter, couched in formal terms of good will, Eisenhower asked the former GOP senator from Washington to stay on until a successor takes office.

The White House added: "We expect to have a successor soon."

Cain's letter of resignation, dated July 17, called again for reforms in the government's loyalty program, which has also been under fire from Democrats in Congress.

Cain Calls For Reforms

He wrote the President that if the administration's objective "is to be not only on security matters firm, as it obviously is, but fair, as I know you want it to be, then, for the real protection of the nation and millions of citizens who are presently affected by internal security procedures and programs affirmative and speedy action needs to be taken in putting reforms into force."

Cain has used harsher words about the program in the past. Last month he told Congress that some "Fascist-type" abuses have been connected with it, and that there is "a serious question whether we need a so-called loyalty program in this country."

Aid Conferees Split Difference On Funds, Ban Arms For Tito

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Senate-House conferees, agreeing to split the difference on foreign aid funds, today approved an appropriation of $3,766,570,000 for this year's program.

They also accepted the Senate's ban on the use of any of the money for military aid to Communist Yugoslavia.

The compromise figure on the appropriation for fiscal 1957 is $344,350,000 less than the Senate voted yesterday and $341,120,000 more than the House approved July 11—almost an even split.

It is also about one billion dollars less than President Eisenhower requested to carry on his mutual security program though the 12 months beginning July 1.

Ike Commends Senate

But Eisenhower had agreed to settle for something in the neighborhood of four billion. Vice President Nixon reported after a White House conference this morning the President was "very pleased" with the way the Senate had held the line of foreign aid.

Nixon said the President also commended leaders of both parties in Congress for an "outstanding legislative performance."

Eisenhower had asked for a free hand to deal with Yugoslavia, which has been moving closer to Soviet Russia lately, but Nixon said the ban voted by the Senate was not discussed today.

The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, led the fight to eliminate Yugoslavia from the new military aid program. His amendment would not deny Marshal Tito's government economic aid but would deprive it of between 25 and 30 million dollars for weapons.

House, Senate Must Act

The conference agreement now goes to the House for approval. If it is okayed there it will move on to the Senate and then to Eisenhower's desk.

As compromised, the foreign aid bill carries $2,017,500,000 in military assistance for foreign nations and $1,749,070,000 in various forms of economic aid. Last year's appropriation totaled about $2,700,000,000.

Boy Scouts Rescue Flier Floating In Sea

EL TORO, Calif., July 25 (AP)—A cold and exhausted Marine flier floating in the ocean for more than 13 hours in his life jacket was rescued today by Boy Scouts.

Another Marine in a Skyraider attack bomber that went down in the vicinity of Catalina Island was still missing. A search was on for him.

The scouts, aboard the boat Rodoleo, rescued M. Sgt. George Vance Mikkelsen, 38, who was described as suffering from extreme exhaustion and shock. A Coast Guard plane flew him from Catalina to the Marine dispensary here.

Milkman Leaves Cow Per Request

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 25 (AP) — Like most mothers of three growing children, Mrs. J. B. Marshall Jr., had her problems. Only she fell for the temptation. She left her milkman this note:

"The way we drink milk, we feel it is best for you just to leave 1 (one) cow instead of our normal delivery."

Today the milkman, with nary a smile, delivered a Jersey cow named Sybil's Bossy, a bill for $400.

Appended was a note that the Marshalls could return Bossy if they weren't satisfied. That seemed the likely course.

GM Reports Heavy Decline In Sales

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—General Motors Corp., the world's biggest auto maker, today reported a 644-million-dollar decline in its business for the first six months of 1956, compared to a year ago.

Profits were down 157 millions.

For the six months ended June 30, the giant company earned $503,471,823, or $1.80 a share. This compared with $660,961,942 or $2.41 a share in the first half of 1955.

Sales for the recent six months fell to $5,868,673,907 from the record $6,512,672,139 scored in the like period last year. But they were higher than in any other first half year in the history of General Motors.

Jet Crash Sets New Castle, Pa., Building Afire

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 25 (AP)—An Air Force jet training plane smashed into a combination grocery store and apartment building tonight, setting the structure afire. No one was reported killed.

The two crewmen bailed out of the plane and escaped with minor injuries.

Only one of the 12 persons who lived in the four apartments was reported in the building when the plane hit, firemen said. She was Mrs. Sylvester Bockum and she suffered only shock.

The two-story brick building was smashed into rubble. Firemen said flames shot high in air, seconds after the plane made a direct hit in the center of the building.

Mrs. Allen Shotzbarger, 20, and her 2-year-old daughter, Audie, were just about to enter the structure when the plane came down. Both were hospitalized for extreme shock. Several other persons in the vicinity also suffered from shock.

Lt. Welling Pulford of the New Castle Fire Department identified the airplane's crewmen as Lt. W. K. Ryan and Lt. G. E. McCleod. He said they parachuted to safety in a field about seven miles from this western Pennsylvania community of 48,000.

John Jacob Astor Suffers Heart Attack

COPENHAGEN, July 25 (AP) — John Jacob Astor III, 43-year-old New York millionaire, is under observation for a heart attack at the Oeresunds Hospital at Elsinore, north of here.

Astor was hospitalized at Elsinore last Sunday as he was on his way by train to Copenhagen from Gothenburg after a pleasure cruise along the Norwegian archipelago to North Cape aboard the Cunard liner Caronia.

Sightseer Hurled To Death As Chairlift Cable Breaks

GILFORD, N.H., July 25 (AP) — A sightseer hurled to his death and seven others were injured today when a steel cable on a mountain chairlift snapped.

The 3,200-foot cable was carrying about 20 tourists p and down the side of Rowe Mountain in the scenic Belknap Mountain recreation area.

Fritzie Baer, manager of the recreation area, said the one-inch cable broke about 200 feet from the top of the 700-foot mountain.

Killed was William Kirby, 35, of Salem, Mass., who plunged 30 feet head-first into a pile of rocks. His wife, who had preceded Kirby up the mountain, was in an observation tower at the peak when the mishap occurred. She and others in the tower did not witness the accident. Later she was brought to the base of the mountain and informed of her husband's death.

Seven persons, including Kirby's 13-year-old stepson, Arthur Paquette, were treated at a LaConia hospital for minor injuries.

About 12 other tourists on the chair-lift escaped with bruises. They were not hospitalized.

The 18-year-old chair tramway, first chair-lift built in the East, is used by skiers in the winter and tourists in the summer. It consists of 60 open chairs hanging from a cable.

Baer said the cable was last replaced five and one-half years ago at a cost of about $6,500 and was designed to give service for 10 years.

Minor Details Appear To Be All Remaining

Union Sources Hail New Company Plan For Ending Walkout

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—An end to the paralyzing national steel strike appeared today to hinge on only minor technical details of a new union contract, and formal union approval of the pact.

Approval is expected at a meeting late tomorrow of the union's 170-member Wage Policy Committee.

High optimism surrounded both sides in negotiating sessions today, and union sources unofficially expressed delight at new terms put forward by the industry.

Sources close to the negotiations believed accord had been reached on all major issues, with nothing more remaining than technical details of some of the minor contract clauses.

Guarded Comment

Publicly, officials of both parties made only guarded comment.

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel vice president who heads the company negotiating team, told newsmen only:

"We have not yet reached an agreement. We are continuing to make progress."

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, nodded in agreement.

Key features of the new company offer were understood to be a three-year, no-strike agreement calling for a 50-cents-an-hour "package" boost over the period, with no wage reopening possible in the final two years but provisions for a cost-of-living wage hike if living costs rise.

The strike began July 1 after a breakdown in contract talks here. A federal mediator brought the parties together again in Pittsburgh, without result. Then the companies called another parley here yesterday, putting forward proposals believed acceptable to the union.

750,000 Idle

The 25-day strike not only has idled some 650,000 steelworkers, who produce 90 per cent of the nation's vital steel, but it also has cost the jobs of more than 100,000 others in industries dependent on steel.

It was believed that the new contract offer of the companies came as a result of pressure—or even perhaps direct intervention—by the national administration in Washington.

Experts believe it would take at least two weeks to bring the industry back to full production.

There were estimates that a price increase to cover wages and other benefits granted in the new contract would be at least $9 or $10 a ton. This would add about 850 million dollars annually to the nation's steel bill.

Civil Rights Bill Apparently Dead

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower made a new request today for passage of the administration's civil rights bill but Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told him this "is not possible" at this late date.

Even the most active supporters of the House-passed measure conceded they would be unable to force Senate action on it in these closing days of the 1956 session.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said "There is very little we can do."

Eisenhower asked favorable action on the civil rights program when he met at the White House with Republican congressional leaders.

Knowland later told newsmen he informed Eisenhower that the bill, because of bitter Southern opposition, is subject to almost endless delay and could not be brought to a vote before adjournment.

"The only way to deal with a bill subject to that type of tactics," he said, "is to bring it up early."

Douglas and other supporters of the measure have been stymied in repeated attempts to present a resolution that would dislodge the bill from the Judiciary Committee.

Because the Senate is recessing, rather than adjourning, from day to day, a single objection can block such a maneuver.

Douglas made another try today but was stymied again.

Knowland said the efforts of Douglas and others "is just an empty gesture."

N. casualty in two days of efforts to end shootings and mine incidents along the tense frontier that marks a narrow neck of Israel jutting into Jordan territory in Palestine. Jordan reported its member of the Mixed Armistice Commission, Capt Mohammed Barghouti, also was wounded.

Israel, blaming the Jordanians for the incidents and for the shot which struck the U. N. observer, protested to the commission. An Israeli Foreign Minister spokesman called the incidents a "cease-fire breach by Jordan."

Jordan Blames Israel

"These continuous acts of aggression are a telling and provocative reply to the latest attempt by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to prevent a collapse of the cease-fire under the impact of Jordanian outrages," he added.

Jordan blames the Israelis for the outbursts. A Jordanian military spokesman, calling the frontier situation "very tense," reported that Israeli positions opened the fire early in the morning, with small and medium automatic weapons.

Cain, Security Program Critic, Will Quit Board

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The White House announced today that Harry P. Cain, crusading critic of the administration's employe security program, had resigned from the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Cain said a month ago he would be delighted to serve another three-year term but that he suspected President Eisenhower would not renominate him.

Today the White House said his resignation had been accepted. Cain made the resignation effective on the expiration of his term Aug. 9 although offering to stay on beyond that date, until his successor is qualified.

Expect Successor Soon

In a brief letter, couched in formal terms of good will, Eisenhower asked the former GOP senator from Washington to stay on until a successor takes office.

The White House added: "We expect to have a successor soon."

Cain's letter of resignation, dated July 17, called again for reforms in the government's loyalty program, which has also been under fire from Democrats in Congress.

Cain Calls For Reforms

He wrote the President that if the administration's objective "is to be not only on security matters firm, as it obviously is, but fair, as I know you want it to be, then, for the real protection of the nation and millions of citizens who are presently affected by internal security procedures and programs affirmative and speedy action needs to be taken in putting reforms into force."

Cain has used harsher words about the program in the past. Last month he told Congress that some "Fascist-type" abuses have been connected with it, and that there is "a serious question whether we need a so-called loyalty program in this country."

One Killed, 7 Hurt As Cable Breaks

Aid Conferees Split Difference On Funds, Ban Arms For Tito

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Senate-House conferees, agreeing to split the difference on foreign aid funds, today approved an appropriation of $3,766,570,000 for this year's program.

They also accepted the Senate's ban on the use of any of the money for military aid to Communist Yugoslavia.

The compromise figure on the appropriation for fiscal 1957 is $344,350,000 less than the Senate voted yesterday and $341,120,000 more than the House approved July 11—almost an even split.

It is also about one billion dollars less than President Eisenhower requested to carry on his mutual security program though the 12 months beginning July 1.

Ike Commends Senate

But Eisenhower had agreed to settle for something in the neighborhood of four billion. Vice President Nixon reported after a White House conference this morning the President was "very pleased" with the way the Senate had held the line of foreign aid.

Nixon said the President also commended leaders of both parties in Congress for an "outstanding legislative performance."

Eisenhower had asked for a free hand to deal with Yugoslavia, which has been moving closer to Soviet Russia lately, but Nixon said the ban voted by the Senate was not discussed today.

The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, led the fight to eliminate Yugoslavia from the new military aid program. His amendment would not deny Marshal Tito's government economic aid but would deprive it of between 25 and 30 million dollars for weapons.

House, Senate Must Act

The conference agreement now goes to the House for approval. If it is okayed there it will move on to the Senate and then to Eisenhower's desk.

As compromised, the foreign aid bill carries $2,017,500,000 in military assistance for foreign nations and $1,749,070,000 in various forms of economic aid. Last year's appropriation totaled about $2,700,000,000.

Milkman Leaves Cow Per Request

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 25 (AP) — Like most mothers of three growing children, Mrs. J. B. Marshall Jr., had her problems. Only she fell for the temptation. She left her milkman this note:

"The way we drink milk, we feel it is best for you just to leave 1 (one) cow instead of our normal delivery."

Today the milkman, with nary a smile, delivered a Jersey cow named Sybil's Bossy, a bill for $400.

Appended was a note that the Marshalls could return Bossy if they weren't satisfied. That seemed the likely course.

GM Reports Heavy Decline In Sales

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—General Motors Corp., the world's biggest auto maker, today reported a 644-million-dollar decline in its business for the first six months of 1956, compared to a year ago.

Profits were down 157 millions.

For the six months ended June 30, the giant company earned $503,471,823, or $1.80 a share. This compared with $660,961,942 or $2.41 a share in the first half of 1955.

Sales for the recent six months fell to $5,868,673,907 from the record $6,512,672,139 scored in the like period last year. But they were higher than in any other first half year in the history of General Motors.

Boy Scouts Rescue Flier Floating In Sea

EL TORO, Calif., July 25 (AP)—A cold and exhausted Marine flier floating in the ocean for more than 13 hours in his life jacket was rescued today by Boy Scouts.

Another Marine in a Skyraider attack bomber that went down in the vicinity of Catalina Island was still missing. A search was on for him.

The scouts, aboard the boat Rodoleo, rescued M. Sgt. George Vance Mikkelsen, 38, who was described as suffering from extreme exhaustion and shock. A Coast Guard plane flew him from Catalina to the Marine dispensary here.

Jet Crash Sets New Castle, Pa., Building Afire

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 25 (AP)—An Air Force jet training plane smashed into a combination grocery store and apartment building tonight, setting the structure afire. No one was reported killed.

The two crewmen bailed out of the plane and escaped with minor injuries.

Only one of the 12 persons who lived in the four apartments was reported in the building when the plane hit, firemen said. She was Mrs. Sylvester Bockum and she suffered only shock.

The two-story brick building was smashed into rubble. Firemen said flames shot high in air, seconds after the plane made a direct hit in the center of the building.

Mrs. Allen Shotzbarger, 20, and her 2-year-old daughter, Audie, were just about to enter the structure when the plane came down. Both were hospitalized for extreme shock. Several other persons in the vicinity also suffered from shock.

Lt. Welling Pulford of the New Castle Fire Department identified the airplane's crewmen as Lt. W. K. Ryan and Lt. G. E. McCleod. He said they parachuted to safety in a field about seven miles from this western Pennsylvania community of 48,000.

John Jacob Astor Suffers Heart Attack

COPENHAGEN, July 25 (AP) — John Jacob Astor III, 43-year-old New York millionaire, is under observation for a heart attack at the Oeresunds Hospital at Elsinore, north of here.

Astor was hospitalized at Elsinore last Sunday as he was on his way by train to Copenhagen from Gothenburg after a pleasure cruise along the Norwegian archipelago to North Cape aboard the Cunard liner Caronia.

Sightseer Hurled To Death As Chairlift Cable Breaks

GILFORD, N.H., July 25 (AP) — A sightseer hurled to his death and seven others were injured today when a steel cable on a mountain chairlift snapped.

The 3,200-foot cable was carrying about 20 tourists p and down the side of Rowe Mountain in the scenic Belknap Mountain recreation area.

Fritzie Baer, manager of the recreation area, said the one-inch cable broke about 200 feet from the top of the 700-foot mountain.

Killed was William Kirby, 35, of Salem, Mass., who plunged 30 feet head-first into a pile of rocks. His wife, who had preceded Kirby up the mountain, was in an observation tower at the peak when the mishap occurred. She and others in the tower did not witness the accident. Later she was brought to the base of the mountain and informed of her husband's death.

Seven persons, including Kirby's 13-year-old stepson, Arthur Paquette, were treated at a LaConia hospital for minor injuries.

About 12 other tourists on the chair-lift escaped with bruises. They were not hospitalized.

The 18-year-old chair tramway, first chair-lift built in the East, is used by skiers in the winter and tourists in the summer. It consists of 60 open chairs hanging from a cable.

Baer said the cable was last replaced five and one-half years ago at a cost of about $6,500 and was designed to give service for 10 years.

Minor Details Appear To Be All Remaining

Union Sources Hail New Company Plan For Ending Walkout

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—An end to the paralyzing national steel strike appeared today to hinge on only minor technical details of a new union contract, and formal union approval of the pact.

Approval is expected at a meeting late tomorrow of the union's 170-member Wage Policy Committee.

High optimism surrounded both sides in negotiating sessions today, and union sources unofficially expressed delight at new terms put forward by the industry.

Sources close to the negotiations believed accord had been reached on all major issues, with nothing more remaining than technical details of some of the minor contract clauses.

Guarded Comment

Publicly, officials of both parties made only guarded comment.

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel vice president who heads the company negotiating team, told newsmen only:

"We have not yet reached an agreement. We are continuing to make progress."

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, nodded in agreement.

Key features of the new company offer were understood to be a three-year, no-strike agreement calling for a 50-cents-an-hour "package" boost over the period, with no wage reopening possible in the final two years but provisions for a cost-of-living wage hike if living costs rise.

The strike began July 1 after a breakdown in contract talks here. A federal mediator brought the parties together again in Pittsburgh, without result. Then the companies called another parley here yesterday, putting forward proposals believed acceptable to the union.

The 25-day strike not only has idled some 650,000 steelworkers, who produce 90 per cent of the nation's vital steel, but it also has cost the jobs of more than 100,000 others in industries dependent on steel.

It was believed that the new contract offer of the companies came as a result of pressure—or even perhaps direct intervention—by the national administration in Washington.

Experts believe it would take at least two weeks to bring the industry back to full production.

There were estimates that a price increase to cover wages and other benefits granted in the new contract would be at least $9 or $10 a ton. This would add about 850 million dollars annually to the nation's steel bill.

Civil Rights Bill Apparently Dead

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower made a new request today for passage of the administration's civil rights bill but Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told him this "is not possible" at this late date.

Even the most active supporters of the House-passed measure conceded they would be unable to force Senate action on it in these closing days of the 1956 session.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said "There is very little we can do."

Eisenhower asked favorable action on the civil rights program when he met at the White House with Republican congressional leaders.

Knowland later told newsmen he informed Eisenhower that the bill, because of bitter Southern opposition, is subject to almost endless delay and could not be brought to a vote before adjournment.

"The only way to deal with a bill subject to that type of tactics," he said, "is to bring it up early."

Douglas and other supporters of the measure have been stymied in repeated attempts to present a resolution that would dislodge the bill from the Judiciary Committee.

Because the Senate is recessing, rather than adjourning, from day to day, a single objection can block such a maneuver.

Douglas made another try today but was stymied again.

House Votes To Cite Miller For Contempt

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — Contempt of Congress citations against playwright Arthur Miller and seven other persons were voted today by the House. Miller is now in England with his bride, actress Marilyn Monroe.

The contempt actions were initiated by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which accused all eight persons of refusing to answer questions put to them at public hearings.

A contempt citation also has been voted by the committee against singer Paul Robeson but this was not presented to the House. Chairman Walter (R-Pa) said the Justice Department has not yet submitted its recommendation in Robeson's case.

Miller's was the only citation on which a roll call was demanded. The vote was 373-9.

Drag Death Driver Receives 20 Years

KEY WEST, Fla., July 25 (AP)—The driver of a car which dragged a boy 10 blocks to his death was sentenced to 20 years in prison today on a plea of guilty.

The driver, 20-year-old Allen Breck, told Judge Thomas S. Caro, "Whatever the sentence, I'll have that on my conscience all my life."

Breck's car struck a bicycle which 11-year-old Joseph Biessell was riding to church July 5. The boy became entangled in the bicycle, which caught on the rear bumper of the car, and was dragged 10 blocks.

Dozens of persons saw the car make two turns at street intersections and proceed past the boy's home before it stopped.

"I was out drinking all night or I wouldn't have done anything like that," Beck told the judge.

W. Virginia GOP Leaders Remain Loyal To Nixon

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 25 (AP) — West Virginia's representatives on the Republican National Committee have not been swayed in their loyalties to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket by recent Washington developments.

"I feel confident," said GOP National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan, "that the West Virginia delegation will vote unanimously for the renomination of Eisenhower and Nixon. To do otherwise would be political folly."

The committee representatives were queried after a short-lived revolt from Vice President Richard Nixon was led by Harold Stassen, member of the Eisenhower candidate.

Stassen said Monday the vote-getting power of the November ticket would be enhanced with Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts as President Eisenhower's running mate.

It was disclosed Tuesday that Gov. Herter had been designated to place Nixon's name in nomination for the No. 2 spot.

Mrs. Frances Ogden Stubblefield of Charleston, Republican national committeewoman for West Virginia, said:

"Nixon has demonstrated his ability and competence to be vice president, and President Eisenhower has indicated Nixon is his choice for running mate. While I have great admiration for Gov. Herter, I will go along with Mr. Eisenhower in whoever he wants for vice president."

Mother Enters Innocent Plea In Custody Case

FAIR LAWN, N. J., July 25 (AP)—Martha Jane Byrne, 6, was returned today to her legal guardian's home from which her mother is charged with abducting her Monday.

The mother, Mrs. Rosalinde Byrne, 44, of Annapolis, Md., appeared with the child today in the office of Magistrate Joseph Sproviere. There she pleaded innocent to charges of abduction brought by the child's great aunt and guardian, Mrs. P. J. Byrne, Fair Lawn.

She waived preliminary hearing on these charges and Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi then had her held for a grand jury hearing Thursday morning.

Calissi released the mother in her own recognizance.

Meanwhile the custody of the blonde pig-tailed child will be the subject of a hearing Friday in Superior Court, the younger Mrs. Byrne's attorney, Albert O. Scafuro, said.

Throughout today's proceedings the tall mother appeared nervous and distraught. Clad in a light blue summer suit, she appeared for the scheduled hearing two hours after her attorney had notified the court the mother and child would be unavoidably delayed.

Mrs. Rosalinde Byrne, widow of the elder Mrs. Byrne's nephew, gave up custody of Martha Jane in August 1955. Police quoted her as saying she signed custody papers thinking she was only giving permission for the child to go to school here.

British Auto Strike Hits Ford Subsidiary

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Britain's three-day auto strike spread tonight to the American-bossed Ford group.

Twelve thousand men walked out of Briggs Motor Bodies, Ltd., a Ford subsidiary, protesting "protective" dismissals issued to 2,000 fellow workers.

In Birmingham, heart of the once-booming Midlands auto industry, police clashed with strikers at the giant British Motor Corp. plant, which makes Austin cars.

Two antistrike demonstrators who tried to break up a workers' meeting were beaten and stoned. Fist fights broke out between pickets and men going to work.

The dispute at Briggs — which makes car bodies for the big Ford plant on the Thames River—was a result of the BMC strike. Briggs gets some body parts from BMC. The 2,000 notices were issued in case these supplies failed and tied up the plant.

Rescued One Man

"At this point, I told the men to keep cool and go onto the beach. I at this point swam out to the men in the middle of the stream. I grabbed one man and took him to the beach, to a point where he could stand up. I asked him if he could touch ground and stand up. When he gave me an affirmative reply I headed back into the stream to help the others. The remainder of the platoon who had gone onto the beach were helping others who had been on the rear end of the column to get ashore.

"I swam out and as I passed one of the men, a colored boy who I thought was okay, grabbed me and we both went down under the surface of the water and then came back up to the surface. We went down a second time and at this point he let go of me and I could not find him after that. After several attempts to locate the boy and had had no success, I headed for the beach as I could see no one else in the area. The tide I believe was high and at the time was going out as there was quite a current."

Mexican Hopes To Remain Nailed To Cross 15 Days

REYNOSA, Mexico, July 25 (AP)—Tagare, 25-year-old ventriloquist who was voluntarily nailed to a cross in the builring here three days ago, said today he hopes to stay on his cross for 15 days. He's doing it for money, he said, and will give 10 per cent to the Catholic Church.

Tagare, dressed in a white silk suit, lay on the cross as he talked with this reporter through an interpreter today. The cross was supported by two carpenter's sawhorses. Small electric fans stirred the hot air in the room.

Tagare said the wounds in his feet and hands hurt, but he gave no indication of suffering great pain. He did not appear to be in a trance.

His hands were still nailed to the cross. His feet had been removed, but the nails were still in them and they were bandaged on the bottom.

The nails were about six inches long and slightly larger than a wooden match in diameter.

NAACP Fined For Contempt

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 25 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People was fined $10,000 for contempt of court today with a provision that the fine will be increased to $100,000 unless the NAACP produces certain records within five days.

The fine was levied in state court by Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones after the NAACP refused to produce records to be used to determine whether an injunction against continued NAACP activity in Alabama should be lifted. When the NAACP declined to produce the records Jones put the organization in "willful contempt."

Two armed deputy sheriffs sheriffs guarded the courtroom while the judge read his order but there was no disturbance from the crowd composed mainly of Negroes.

Under the court's written order, the NAACP can ask to have the $10,000 fine reduced or set aside if it produces the records within five days. If it refuses to comply within that period, the fine automatically increases to $100,000.

Forest Fire Compact Bill Signed By Ike

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed a bill granting consent of Congress to the Middle Atlantic Interstate Forest Fire Protection Compact.

The compact would provide cooperation in forest fire control among the states of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The compact has been described by its backers as a step toward more effective control of forest fires.

Under the compact, member states would respond to calls for aid from other states. Integrated regional fire plans could also be formulated.

Harriman Raps Administration Farm Program

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 25 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York voiced sharp criticism of the administration farm program today and suggested "two guidelines" for future agricultural efforts.

In an address prepared for Democratic Day ceremonies at the Champaign County Fair, Harriman said Secretary of Agriculture Benson tried "to turn the city people against the farmers. And now there is an attempt to turn farmer against farmer."

"In New York," the Democratic presidential aspirant said, "they are telling the dairy farmers that if they could get their feed, which comes from the Midwest, at a lower price, their difficulties would be solved. This is the old theory of divide and rule."

Small businessmen as well as farmers are having hard sledding under the Eisenhower administration, Harriman said.

"This Eisenhower lopsided prosperity is geared for big business," he said. "While profits of the largest manufacturers have gone up 62 per cent since 1952, profits of the smallest category of manufacturers have been cut in half.

Harriman stated that American farm programs should be put back in the hands of elected farmer committees. "For all our efforts, I suggest two guidelines:

"One is to preserve and strengthen the family farm. All our policies should be geared to that end. Our price supports and production payments should be designed to encourage family farming and not industrial-type farming.

"Second, we should be guided by a bold new conception of the objectives of our farm program—parity of income."

Woman Dies Of Cancer Month After Husband Tried To Hasten Death

NEWCASTLE, England, July 25 (AP)—Mrs. Harold Mercer, 49, is dead of cancer, just over a month after her husband sought to end her suffering with an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Mrs. Mercer died yesterday at her home. She was cared for to the last by her bricklayer husband, who attempted to end his own life with the same drug after overdosing his wife on June 17.

Mercer was charged with attempted murder. He pleaded guilty and was placed on three months probation.

Mrs. Mercer died without ever learning that her husband had sought to hasten her death.

W. Virginia GOP Leaders Remain Loyal To Nixon

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 25 (AP) — West Virginia's representatives on the Republican National Committee have not been swayed in their loyalties to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket by recent Washington developments.

"I feel confident," said GOP National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan, "that the West Virginia delegation will vote unanimously for the renomination of Eisenhower and Nixon. To do otherwise would be political folly."

The committee representatives were queried after a short-lived revolt from Vice President Richard Nixon was led by Harold Stassen, member of the Eisenhower candidate.

Stassen said Monday the vote-getting power of the November ticket would be enhanced with Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts as President Eisenhower's running mate.

It was disclosed Tuesday that Gov. Herter had been designated to place Nixon's name in nomination for the No. 2 spot.

Mrs. Frances Ogden Stubblefield of Charleston, Republican national committeewoman for West Virginia, said:

"Nixon has demonstrated his ability and competence to be vice president, and President Eisenhower has indicated Nixon is his choice for running mate. While I have great admiration for Gov. Herter, I will go along with Mr. Eisenhower in whoever he wants for vice president."

Mother Enters Innocent Plea In Custody Case

FAIR LAWN, N. J., July 25 (AP)—Martha Jane Byrne, 6, was returned today to her legal guardian's home from which her mother is charged with abducting her Monday.

The mother, Mrs. Rosalinde Byrne, 44, of Annapolis, Md., appeared with the child today in the office of Magistrate Joseph Sproviere. There she pleaded innocent to charges of abduction brought by the child's great aunt and guardian, Mrs. P. J. Byrne, Fair Lawn.

She waived preliminary hearing on these charges and Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi then had her held for a grand jury hearing Thursday morning.

Calissi released the mother in her own recognizance.

Meanwhile the custody of the blonde pig-tailed child will be the subject of a hearing Friday in Superior Court, the younger Mrs. Byrne's attorney, Albert O. Scafuro, said.

Throughout today's proceedings the tall mother appeared nervous and distraught. Clad in a light blue summer suit, she appeared for the scheduled hearing two hours after her attorney had notified the court the mother and child would be unavoidably delayed.

Mrs. Rosalinde Byrne, widow of the elder Mrs. Byrne's nephew, gave up custody of Martha Jane in August 1955. Police quoted her as saying she signed custody papers thinking she was only giving permission for the child to go to school here.

British Auto Strike Hits Ford Subsidiary

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Britain's three-day auto strike spread tonight to the American-bossed Ford group.

Twelve thousand men walked out of Briggs Motor Bodies, Ltd., a Ford subsidiary, protesting "protective" dismissals issued to 2,000 fellow workers.

In Birmingham, heart of the once-booming Midlands auto industry, police clashed with strikers at the giant British Motor Corp. plant, which makes Austin cars.

Two antistrike demonstrators who tried to break up a workers' meeting were beaten and stoned. Fist fights broke out between pickets and men going to work.

The dispute at Briggs — which makes car bodies for the big Ford plant on the Thames River—was a result of the BMC strike. Briggs gets some body parts from BMC. The 2,000 notices were issued in case these supplies failed and tied up the plant.

Rescued One Man

"At this point, I told the men to keep cool and go onto the beach. I at this point swam out to the men in the middle of the stream. I grabbed one man and took him to the beach, to a point where he could stand up. I asked him if he could touch ground and stand up. When he gave me an affirmative reply I headed back into the stream to help the others. The remainder of the platoon who had gone onto the beach were helping others who had been on the rear end of the column to get ashore.

"I swam out and as I passed one of the men, a colored boy who I thought was okay, grabbed me and we both went down under the surface of the water and then came back up to the surface. We went down a second time and at this point he let go of me and I could not find him after that. After several attempts to locate the boy and had had no success, I headed for the beach as I could see no one else in the area. The tide I believe was high and at the time was going out as there was quite a current."

Mexican Hopes To Remain Nailed To Cross 15 Days

REYNOSA, Mexico, July 25 (AP)—Tagare, 25-year-old ventriloquist who was voluntarily nailed to a cross in the bullring here three days ago, said today he hopes to stay on his cross for 15 days. He's doing it for money, he said, and will give 10 per cent to the Catholic Church.

Tagare, dressed in a white silk suit, lay on the cross as he talked with this reporter through an interpreter today. The cross was supported by two carpenter's sawhorses. Small electric fans stirred the hot air in the room.

Tagare said the wounds in his feet and hands hurt, but he gave no indication of suffering great pain. He did not appear to be in a trance.

His hands were still nailed to the cross. His feet had been removed, but the nails were still in them and they were bandaged on the bottom.

The nails were about six inches long and slightly larger than a wooden match in diameter.

NAACP Fined For Contempt

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 25 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People was fined $10,000 for contempt of court today with a provision that the fine will be increased to $100,000 unless the NAACP produces certain records within five days.

The fine was levied in state court by Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones after the NAACP refused to produce records to be used to determine whether an injunction against continued NAACP activity in Alabama should be lifted. When the NAACP declined to produce the records Jones put the organization in "willful contempt."

Two armed deputy sheriffs sheriffs guarded the courtroom while the judge read his order but there was no disturbance from the crowd composed mainly of Negroes.

Under the court's written order, the NAACP can ask to have the $10,000 fine reduced or set aside if it produces the records within five days. If it refuses to comply within that period, the fine automatically increases to $100,000.

Forest Fire Compact Bill Signed By Ike

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed a bill granting consent of Congress to the Middle Atlantic Interstate Forest Fire Protection Compact.

The compact would provide cooperation in forest fire control among the states of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The compact has been described by its backers as a step toward more effective control of forest fires.

Under the compact, member states would respond to calls for aid from other states. Integrated regional fire plans could also be formulated.

Harriman Raps Administration Farm Program

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 25 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York voiced sharp criticism of the administration farm program today and suggested "two guidelines" for future agricultural efforts.

In an address prepared for Democratic Day ceremonies at the Champaign County Fair, Harriman said Secretary of Agriculture Benson tried "to turn the city people against the farmers. And now there is an attempt to turn farmer against farmer."

"In New York," the Democratic presidential aspirant said, "they are telling the dairy farmers that if they could get their feed, which comes from the Midwest, at a lower price, their difficulties would be solved. This is the old theory of divide and rule."

Small businessmen as well as farmers are having hard sledding under the Eisenhower administration, Harriman said.

"This Eisenhower lopsided prosperity is geared for big business," he said. "While profits of the largest manufacturers have gone up 62 per cent since 1952, profits of the smallest category of manufacturers have been cut in half.

Harriman stated that American farm programs should be put back in the hands of elected farmer committees. "For all our efforts, I suggest two guidelines:

"One is to preserve and strengthen the family farm. All our policies should be geared to that end. Our price supports and production payments should be designed to encourage family farming and not industrial-type farming.

"Second, we should be guided by a bold new conception of the objectives of our farm program—parity of income."

Woman Dies Of Cancer Month After Husband Tried To Hasten Death

NEWCASTLE, England, July 25 (AP)—Mrs. Harold Mercer, 49, is dead of cancer, just over a month after her husband sought to end her suffering with an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Mrs. Mercer died yesterday at her home. She was cared for to the last by her bricklayer husband, who attempted to end his own life with the same drug after overdosing his wife on June 17.

Mercer was charged with attempted murder. He pleaded guilty and was placed on three months probation.

Mrs. Mercer died without ever learning that her husband had sought to hasten her death.

Tentative Plans Made For McKeldin's Conference On Juvenile Delinquency

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin's second annual conference on juvenile delinquency, set for Sept. 10-12 at the University of Maryland, will be beamed equally at interested citizens of Maryland and the state's professional social workers.

Tentative plans for the conference were made today at a meeting of the State Commission on Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency.

The three-day governor's conference will be divided between general sessions and work group studies as laymen and professionals study the problem of juvenile delinquency in Maryland.

The conference will serve as a springboard for the commission's 14 committees in drawing up a blueprint for Maryland's delinquency protection and treatment.

Each committee will set up a work group headed by an expert in that particular field. These groups will compare what is being done in Maryland with what the ideal situation should be. From these comparisons they will attempt to arrive at plans of action.

The conference will be open to the public with three groups having special invitations—the county commissioners of each Maryland county or persons designated to represent them, a group of young people and statewide organizations with interest in juvenile delinquency.

The juvenile delinquency commission, organized May 31 at a meeting in the governor's office, is comprised of committees on health, religion, education, employment, foster family and institutional care, strengthening family life, juvenile courts, police, after care, institutions for delinquent children, detention, youth advisory, community organization and recreation.

Each committee is made up of 50 per cent laymen, and each represents a cross-section of the state. The court committee is composed primarily of circuit court judges, while the youth advisory group will draw its membership mostly from teen-agers.

In addition to studying and making recommendations on long-range problems, the committees are charged with finding immediate ways of eliminating juvenile delinquency.

Airliner Makes "Belly Landing"

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP) — A four-engine Capital Airlines plane carrying a crew of four skidded down the runway at Friendship International Airport today after trouble apparently developed with its landing gear. None was hurt.

The turbo-prop plane was landing to pick up passengers for a flight to Pittsburgh. Its engines, propellers and the underside of the fuselage were damaged in the landing.

Airport officials called it a "perfect belly landing."

Washington Visitors Show Big Increase

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—An estimated 3½ million persons have visited Washington thus far this year, an increase of 15 to 20 per cent over the comparable 1955 period.

The estimate was made by the Greater National Capital Committee and Henry Burroughs, Gray Lines Inc., a tourist bus firm. They predicted the full year total of visitors might reach five million.

Va. Apple Crop Increase Seen

WINCHESTER, Va., July 25 (AP) —Early estimates in this northern Shenandoah Valley area indicate Virginia's 1956 apple crop will exceed 1955 by about three million bushels.

The estimates by growers, processors and orchard associations, place this year's total production at between 8½ and 9 million bushels. The International Apple Assn. placed last year's crop at 5,680,000 bushels.

The normally heavy-producing counties of Frederick and Clarke are the exceptions to what is generally agreed will be a good crop. Late spring freezes in the two counties made deep cutbacks in the crop. Estimates place the reduction at around 50 per cent.

Young Naval Airman Seized For Holdups

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — A 19-year-old naval airman accused of two restaurant holdups was arrested early today sitting in a third eating place and wearing the same trench coat which, police said, made him easy to identify.

Charged with robbery was Airman Eric Lance Lynch of the Patuxent River Naval Air Station. Arrested as an associate was Airman Joseph J. Nagy, 22, also of the Patuxent station.

Police said Lynch was carrying a revolver. They quoted him as saying he wanted the money for a weekend trip to his home in New York. They said he took $90 from one restaurant and $11 from another. Nagy, police said, accompanied Lynch on both occasions.

Maryland Power Plant Site OK'd By House Group

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The House Public Works Committee today approved a bill to enable Potomac Electric Power Co. (PEPCO) to build a 100 million dollar generating plant on the Montgomery County, Md., shore of the Potomac River.

But chances are slight that the bill will be enacted into law in this session of Congress. One big reason is that Rep. Smith (D-Va), chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, has said he will do everything in his power to block enactment. Smith wants the plant to be built on the Loudoun County, Va., side of the river.

The bill, approved by the committee 11-10, would authorize PEPCO to build a dam across the Potomac to accumulate water for cooling its generators.

David Scull, president of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, said the committee's action places the issue "squarely in Rep. Smith's lap." He added:

"I am afraid the bill has gone about as far as it can go this session, but it will be introduced again next session."

New Hagerstown City Dump Site Approved

HAGERSTOWN, July 25 (AP) — Hagerstown's getting a new city dump. The old one is to be covered over and made into an 18-hole municipal golf course.

The last technical hurdle was cleared today when approval was received from the State Water Pollution Commission to dump city refuse on a 60-acre tract six miles west of Hagerstown on the Greencastle Pike, Maryland 398.

There were vigorous protests from residents near the new dump site, but the city's request was approved after it assured the state it would not attempt to burn the refuse but bury it.

SIGNING DAY FOR 'MISS UNIVERSE'

Experts To Test Huge Antenna

ELBERTON, Ga., July 25 (AP)—A mammoth spider web antenna has been erected near Elberton as part of an experiment by the U.S. armed forces to develop a quick and foolproof system of communication.

The antenna, measuring 60 feet in diameter, is part of an experimental radio transmission system known as the "scatter" system which makes possible over-the-horizon transmission of ultra high frequency radio waves.

In the scatter system, radio waves travel in the sky and are reflected by the clouds. The reflected waves are picked up by the giant antenna.

The experiment, to begin in the next few days with four men operating the recording equipment 24 hours a day, will continue for approximately six months and will cost more than $100,000.

The antenna was erected by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Annapolis Adopts Record Budget

ANNAPOLIS, July 25 (AP) —City Council has adopted a $1,593,515 budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30, the largest outlay in the city's history.

It is $307,069 higher than last year and includes a $200 annual pay raise for police and firemen and a five per cent increase for all other city employes.

The budget was balanced with the aid of a $400,000 surplus, permitting the city tax rate to remain at $1.39 per $100 assessed property valuation.

84th Congress Hurries Toward Adjournment Before Weekend

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Legislators quickened their pace today and their leaders predicted the 84th Congress would adjourn within two or three days.

The possibility that the final gavel might even fall as early as tomorrow night was raised by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader, 'hough others were not so optimistic.

Johnson said a Thursday windup was possible after senators agreed to suspend rules and take up a $2,300,000,000 appropriations bill today.

The money bill, already passed by the House, was described by Johnson as the last major piece of legislation. It is a catch-all measure providing funds for various federal activities.

Other than conference reports, Johnson said, there is little but the appropriations bill standing in the way of adjournment.

Republican Leader Knowland of California was not quite as optimistic as Johnson about when the session would end. He said possibly Friday or Saturday.

Harrison County Integrates Teachers

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 25 (AP)—The Harrison County Board of Education has voted to place six Negro teachers in its integrated school system.

All formerly taught at Kelly Miller High School, the county's only all-Negro high school which was closed in June. County Supt. Arthur V. G. Upton said today that the all-Negro Kelly Miller grade school would continue to operate during the coming school term but that it will be discontinued the following year.

Kelly Miller pupils are being gradually integrated into other schools, Upton said.

PPG Sales Up, Profits Down

Although sales for the first six months of 1956 slightly exceeded those of the like period of the previous year, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company yesterday reported a seven per cent decline in net earnings after taxes for the period.

Sales of $292,518,948 were a record high for the six-month period and compare with sales of $288,535,825 reported for the first half of 1955.

Sales by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and its consolidated subsidiaries during the second quarter of 1956 were $148,856,319, as compared with sales of $148,802,693 for the same period of the previous year.

Net earnings for the first half were $30,258,088, equivalent to $3.08 per share, after provision of $33,899,892 for income taxes. For the comparable period of 1955, net earnings were $32,562,512, equivalent to $3.31 per share after provision of $37,190,241 for income taxes.

Pittsburgh Plate declared a five per cent stock dividend in the last quarter of 1955 and earnings per share are based on the 9,831,806 shares outstanding on June 30, 1956.

Net earnings for the quarter ended June 30 were $14,553,312, equivalent to $1.48 per share after provision of $16,176,266 for income taxes. Net earnings for the comparable quarter of 1955 were $16,535,564, equivalent to $1.68 per share after provision of $20,082,310 for taxes.

According to David G. Hill, president, several factors contributed to the drop in earnings. Contributing factors included a decline in the volume of glass and paint required for the automobile industry.

Standard Chemical Ltd., which is included in the consolidated report for the first time, added to sales reported for the half but due to a major rehabilitation program this wholly-owned Canadian subsidiary yielded less than a normal profit return.

A maintenance program requiring substantial expenditures was initiated during the first half in the Glass Division. Hill pointed out that the firm's plate and window glass plants have been operating at capacity since mid-1954.

Hill stated that Pittsburgh Plate is still operating all available capacity in its seven plate and window glass plants, although some layoffs have occurred due to a decline in fabrication of automotive glass. He said that demand for glass from the construction, furniture and other markets continues strong.

Columbia - Southern Chemical Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary, established new highs in production and sales during the first half.

City Supports Federal Payments Bill

Mayor Roy W. Eves is wiring Maryland's representatives in Congress of the city's support of a bill authorizing federal payments to municipalities and other local governments on certain types of federally-owned property.

The wires are being sent to Sen. J. Glenn Beall and Rep. Dewitt S. Hyde.

The bill which has been introduced in the House and is before the Senate for action, authorizes the government to make payments for special local improvement assessments such as sewers, street paving, sidewalks and gutters and all other special assessments. (For example, if a municipality assesses abutting property owners for local improvements such as a sewer, the federal government would be assessed for that part which abutted on federal property).

In addition, the government would pay in lieu of local property taxes on all real business and commercial property acquired since June 30, 1950. Property sold on conditional sales contracts or leased also would be required to make payments to municipalities in lieu of taxes.

Mr., Mrs. Sidney Phillips 60th Anniversary Today

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney D. Phillips, 7 West Second Street, will observe their 60th wedding anniversary today. There will be no celebration, because of the death last week of Mrs. Phillips' sister, Miss Bessie Roth.

The former Miss Clara Roth, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Roth, became the bride of Mr. Phillips, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Phillips, July 26, 1896. The wedding ceremony was solemnized in Kingsley Methodist Church, with Rev. Wrightson officiating.

Born and reared where the South Cumberland Bank now stands, Mrs. Phillips attended the Union Street High School and upon graduation was married to Mr. Phillips.

He was born in Devonshire, England, and came to the United States with his parents when he was 12 years old. Settling in Wheeling, W. Va., the family later moved to Cumberland when the father became manager of the N. and G. Taylor Tin Plate Mill. He was employed at the mill for approximately 15 years before going to Washington, Pa., where his father was managing another plant.

Returning to Cumberland, Mr. Phillips took a position with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and later bought a farm near Oldtown, which he still overseas, and from which he sells produce.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are the parents of four children, Mrs. William Henkel, Washington; Mrs. John Donaldson, John Phillips, Cumberland; and Mrs. Robert E. Reid, Washington. They have three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are in comparatively good health.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS)—The passing show:

Cheer up, if you're in debt, the United States government is $272,361,216,429 in the red.

Friends you haven't seen for years look you over in two spots while they shout a welcome: To see how much gray hair you have and how rounder is your middle.

The folding of the circus, except for solid roof showings, is due (I think) to John Ringling North's insistence on making it a girl show.

The pre-convention jokes are largely about Kefauver. Such as: On a handshaking tour the good senator stopped to chat a bit with a voter and the voter volunteered, "You're my second choice, senator."

Softly, somewhat sadly, Kefauver thanked the man for showing at least that much interest in him. He then said, "May I ask you who is your first choice?"

"Almost anybody else," the fellow replied.

PRIMER for PARENTS

GIVE THEM BOOKS . . . It's never too early to expose your child to books—picture books before she learns to read real books.

Then there was the Kefauver story about his approaching a man seated on a park bench, during one of the primaries.

"I'm Estes Kefauver," he said, sticking out his big friendly hand and seizing the man's paw.

"I know," the man said, "Now get the hell away from me."

Even one as bad as this got around quickly following the revelation that our ambassador to Italy had been sickened by arsenic in the paint of her bedroom ceiling—"Arsenic and Old Luce." But it died in a hurry, as it should. Mrs. Luce has done one of the great diplomatic jobs of our time.

President Eisenhower is in a most difficult position on the matter of his health. Any reference he makes to it provides fuel for his political foes. He said he was tired but carries on, after his arrival in Panama. People have said something like that, on arrival in Panama from far-off places, ever since Columbus dropped by there on his second voyage to the New World, looking for a waterway through the Isthmus.

If he had gone immediately to the golf course and played there would have been criticism, too.

There's no question about it: Ike's health is going to be the No. 1 issue in the forthcoming political gales.

Small girl we know who likes to dance with adults had a ball for herself at a party at Allenhurst, N. J., the other night. She latched on to a handsome fellow named Toby and not only could have danced all night but practically did—until led off to her bed. "My girl friends were very jealous," she told me the next day. "They wanted to dance with Toby, but I had him."

"How did you get him?" I asked.

"I ran faster and pushed harder," said the calculating woman.

All-Woman Race

SAN JUAN, July 25 (AP)—Puerto Rico's capital is looking forward to an all-woman race for mayor. The Popular party renominated Mrs. Felisa Rincon Gantier to serve a second term. Two weeks ago the main minority group, the Independence party, nominated Mrs. Mona Marti, radio and TV actress. The Statehood party still has to nominate. "Name another woman," one local paper urged. "It might be fun."

Every action should express your charm—don't let small things mar it.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's The Little Things

While you may have a fine character, a heart of gold, and a completely honest personality, unfortunately people meeting you for the first time can't see all this. The first impression you make is the one they remember.

It is not possible to be too careful about little mannerisms. Many acquaintances never mature into friendships because of small irritating ways. The sad part of it is that you may be the last one to be aware of the cause. Little, unpleasant habits can be even more trying than big faults. So, check and work to overcome any of the following which may have crept into your life to prevent you from being charming.

1. Don't shake hands too weakly. Most people associate a limp handshake with a vapid personality. This is your first physical contact with an acquaintance . . . let it be brief, firm, and natural.

2. Don't laugh loudly. Boisterous laughter is very grating to the ear. No sensitive, refined person enjoys it. A musical, sincere laugh lends great charm to any woman.

3. Don't make faces when you talk. Avoid pulling and twisting the mouth or biting the lips. Talking from the corner of your mouth spoils your good looks.

4. Don't touch people unnecessarily with your hands! It is very annoying to have someone pull at your collar or examine the fabric in your dress or rest heavily on your shoulder.

5. Don't constantly pick at yourself. Twisting your hair, scratching your head, rubbing your nose, twirling a necklace, and so many other bad mannerisms which you find unpleasant in others . . . must be eliminated from your life.

Tomorrow—Be your age.

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self addressed return envelope.

Fly Swatter Still Tops

GENEVA, July 25 (AP)—The fly swatter is still the surest weapon against the house fly. World Health Organization experts have reported that resistance to insect killers is becoming universal among house flies.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS)—The passing show:

Cheer up, if you're in debt, the United States government is $272,361,216,429 in the red.

Friends you haven't seen for years look you over in two spots while they shout a welcome: To see how much gray hair you have and how rounder is your middle.

The folding of the circus, except for solid roof showings, is due (I think) to John Ringling North's insistence on making it a girl show.

The pre-convention jokes are largely about Kefauver. Such as: On a handshaking tour the good senator stopped to chat a bit with a voter and the voter volunteered, "You're my second choice, senator."

Softly, somewhat sadly, Kefauver thanked the man for showing at least that much interest in him. He then said, "May I ask you who is your first choice?"

"Almost anybody else," the fellow replied.

PRIMER for PARENTS

GIVE THEM BOOKS . . . It's never too early to expose your child to books—picture books before she learns to read real books.

Then there was the Kefauver story about his approaching a man seated on a park bench, during one of the primaries.

"I'm Estes Kefauver," he said, sticking out his big friendly hand and seizing the man's paw.

"I know," the man said, "Now get the hell away from me."

Even one as bad as this got around quickly following the revelation that our ambassador to Italy had been sickened by arsenic in the paint of her bedroom ceiling—"Arsenic and Old Luce." But it died in a hurry, as it should. Mrs. Luce has done one of the great diplomatic jobs of our time.

President Eisenhower is in a most difficult position on the matter of his health. Any reference he makes to it provides fuel for his political foes. He said he was tired but carries on, after his arrival in Panama. People have said something like that, on arrival in Panama from far-off places, ever since Columbus dropped by there on his second voyage to the New World, looking for a waterway through the Isthmus.

If he had gone immediately to the golf course and played there would have been criticism, too.

There's no question about it: Ike's health is going to be the No. 1 issue in the forthcoming political gales.

Small girl we know who likes to dance with adults had a ball for herself at a party at Allenhurst, N. J., the other night. She latched on to a handsome fellow named Toby and not only could have danced all night but practically did—until led off to her bed. "My girl friends were very jealous," she told me the next day. "They wanted to dance with Toby, but I had him."

"How did you get him?" I asked.

"I ran faster and pushed harder," said the calculating woman.

All-Woman Race

SAN JUAN, July 25 (AP)—Puerto Rico's capital is looking forward to an all-woman race for mayor. The Popular party renominated Mrs. Felisa Rincon Gantier to serve a second term. Two weeks ago the main minority group, the Independence party, nominated Mrs. Mona Marti, radio and TV actress. The Statehood party still has to nominate. "Name another woman," one local paper urged. "It might be fun."

Every action should express your charm—don't let small things mar it.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's The Little Things

While you may have a fine character, a heart of gold, and a completely honest personality, unfortunately people meeting you for the first time can't see all this. The first impression you make is the one they remember.

It is not possible to be too careful about little mannerisms. Many acquaintances never mature into friendships because of small irritating ways. The sad part of it is that you may be the last one to be aware of the cause. Little, unpleasant habits can be even more trying than big faults. So, check and work to overcome any of the following which may have crept into your life to prevent you from being charming.

1. Don't shake hands too weakly. Most people associate a limp handshake with a vapid personality. This is your first physical contact with an acquaintance . . . let it be brief, firm, and natural.

2. Don't laugh loudly. Boisterous laughter is very grating to the ear. No sensitive, refined person enjoys it. A musical, sincere laugh lends great charm to any woman.

3. Don't make faces when you talk. Avoid pulling and twisting the mouth or biting the lips. Talking from the corner of your mouth spoils your good looks.

4. Don't touch people unnecessarily with your hands! It is very annoying to have someone pull at your collar or examine the fabric in your dress or rest heavily on your shoulder.

5. Don't constantly pick at yourself. Twisting your hair, scratching your head, rubbing your nose, twirling a necklace, and so many other bad mannerisms which you find unpleasant in others . . . must be eliminated from your life.

Tomorrow—Be your age.

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

You are welcome, free of charge, to the reminder card, TEN SECRETS OF CHARM. It lists ten points to remember as milestones along the road to greater charm. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self addressed return envelope.

Fly Swatter Still Tops

GENEVA, July 25 (AP)—The fly swatter is still the surest weapon against the house fly. World Health Organization experts have reported that resistance to insect killers is becoming universal among house flies.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

She was born in Frostburg, a daughter of the late Thomas and Harriet (Larue) Murphy.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Cutter, here, and Mrs. Harold Hershberger, Ohio; two sons, Calvin and Gilbert Duckworth, both of here; three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Trezise and Mrs. Lula Gentry, both of Westernport, and Mrs. Dolly Metz, Detroit, Mich.; 10 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Eichhorn Funeral Home, where services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Charles Price, pastor of Lonaconing Methodist Church. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

MISS EDITH REILEY

Miss Edith Reiley, 86, former resdent, died yesterday in Baltimore.

She was born in Cumberland, a daughter of the late Rev. Asbury R. and Julian (Lowe) Reiley.

Miss Reiley operated a millinery shop on Centre Street before moving to Baltimore about 20 years ago.

She is survived by two nephews, A. Reiley Slade, and John C. Slade, both of Baltimore.

Services will be conducted at the Henry W. Jenkins Funeral Home Baltimore, Saturday at 11 a. m. Interment will be in Moreland Memorial Park, Baltimore.

MRS. CARL B. NEIS

Mrs. Eleanor Elizabeth (Savage) Neis, 42, formerly of Lonaconing and Cumberland, died suddenly Tuesday night two hours after being admitted to a hospital at Hampton, Va. She had not been in ill health.

Mrs. Neis, wife of Carl B. Neis, who works at the US Naval Yards in Hampton, has been living in that community about a year and a half, moving there from Cumberland, where they had resided a number of years on Greene Street.

A daughter of P. R. and Mae (Atkinson) Savage, Allegany Street, Lonaconing, she attended public schools in Lonaconing, and moved to Cumberland from that community about 15 years ago. Besides her parents and her husband, she is survived by two children, Robert and Sue at home; three brothers, Russell Savage, Westernport; M/Sgt. Winfield Scott Savage, stationed in Germany; and William Cecil Savage, Lonaconing; and three sisters, Mrs. Estella Atkinson Devlin, Lonaconing; Mrs. Margaret Moomaw, Ridgeley; and Mrs. Betty Marie Lonoski, Hampton.

The body is to arrive at the Eichhorn Funeral Home in Lonaconing this afternoon, and funeral arrangements will be completed when the family learns whether her brother can fly here from Germany for the services.

DANIEL DeVAULT

LONACONING — Funeral services for Daniel DeVault, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeVault, will be held at 4 p. m. today at the Eichhorn Funeral Home here.

Rev. Joseph Bowers, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will officiate. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

He received his high school diploma from Valley High School on June 1. In ill health since March, he was unable to participate in or attend graduation ceremonies, and the school principal and a teacher delivered his diploma to him at his home. He had worked as a helper in the school cafeteria. His classmates plan to attend the funeral.

He was born May 9, 1938 at National. The family now resides at Harpersville, RFD 1, Frostburg. Danny, who attended both Central High School and later Valley High School, is believed to have suffered from leukemia. He died Monday night at Miners Hospital.

MARSHALL R. THOMPSON

Living Standard Goes Up And Up

The gross national product — national income which comprises all the goods and services produced within a given period — has reached a rate of more than $400 billion a year, and most Americans are optimists enough to expect it to stay above that mark. In 1933 the gross national product was $56 billion, a figure only about one-seventh as great. But the buying power of the dollar fluctuates, and a dollar would buy considerably more in 1933 than it would in 1923 or 1943. Another thing that makes the raw figures misleading is that the population has been increasing rapidly—from 124 million in 1933 to 168 million today. So the 1933 gross national product wasn't as low as it seems, because it had to be divided among fewer people.

The best way to get an idea of how far the economy has advanced in the last few decades is to take into account both the fluctuations in the value of the dollar and the increases in population.

Thus the gross national product for the first quarter of 1956 represented a per capita product of $2,012 in terms of 1947 dollars. The average American, that statistical figment, would therefore be able to produce and consume about three times as much in 1956 as in 1933—if income taxes had not zoomed.

This is a period of prosperity and high employment, so the comparison with the depression low still exaggerates the real gains of the American economy. Let's run a comparison with the peak year of 1929. (That was the year in which the stock market crash hit, but it came too late in the year, and produced too delayed an effect, to reduce national income much.)

In 1929 dollars, the 1929 gross national product was $104.4 billion. But in terms of 1947 dollars it represented a buying power of about $916 per capita. The current figure is more than double that.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Tom Dewey's Politics

As the election approaches, the Republicans in New York State find themselves in a more desperate situation than most of them are willing to admit. They can lose that state with its 45 electoral votes because of an internecine fight over the candidacy for the United States Senate.

Thus far, the most successfully projected aspirant is Jacob Javits, the attorney general, whom most Republicans do not want for many reasons, some of which no one wants to say out loud yet. On the other hand, there is a deal between Javits and Oswald Heck, a powerful member of the state legislature who aspires to be the candidate for governor. Heck is hardly known in the New York City metropolitan area but is popular up-state; Javits has organized political power among the minority groups in New York City and has a following among the socialistic Liberal party members but is disliked by up-state Republicans who wonder how he ever worked his way into the Republican party. So Heck and Javits combined to boost each other—Javits for U. S. senator in 1956; Heck for governor in 1958.

The danger to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket this year is that this plan is splitting the Republicans in this crucial state and that many will stay at home on election day rather than vote for Javits. If the Democratic candidate is Herbert Lehman, these Republicans will have no one to vote for. And this has nothing to do with anti-Semitism. It is just that most Republicans are conservatives and do not care to vote for left wingers.

So, they are pinning their hopes on the ability of the party management to convince Tom Dewey, the erstwhile candidate for the presidency, to run for United States senator. They hold that Dewey can win hands down. Thus far, Dewey has shown reluctance. He is said to be delighted with his private law practice and the comfort of earning some money after a long career in public life.

On the other hand, it is generally believed that John Foster Dulles is reaching a saturation point in the amount of intrigue he has to surmount in the State Department. With Harold Stassen, W. H. Jackson, C. D. Jackson (out of office), Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Paul Hoffman and now Sherman Adams, all putting their mixing spoons into the foreign affairs pot, with the Acheson left-overs sticking their legs out for Dulles and Herbert Hoover Jr. to trip over, it is beginning to be a bit wearisome. Therefore, if Dulles should resign after election day, if Eisenhower is re-elected, it is believed that the President would offer Dewey the secretaryship of state.

Dewey would make a competent secretary of state and would clean up the kitchen mess in which too many cooks have already spoiled too much. Harold Stassen is also said to aspire to this position or any other, but it is generally accepted that the President would prefer Dewey.

Therefore Thomas E. Dewey finds himself besieged by New York State Republicans to announce himself as an aspirant for the U. S. Senate candidacy; many national Republicans want him to hold himself in readiness to succeed Dulles; and his partners undoubtedly want him to stay with his present firm to which he has brought considerable business.

Dewey is a peculiar personality in that while he makes few warm friends, he is admired for his ability as an administrator and his capacity to grasp the innards of a problem. He was an extraordinarily competent governor of New York. Twice he tried for the Republican presidential nomination — really three times, if all the facts are clear. He was beaten for election by his own obstinacy. He, Sherman Adams and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. picked Eisenhower and boomed him so competently that Republican businessmen made pilgrimages to Paris where Eisenhower then was. They put Eisenhower over on the first ballot at the 1952 Republican Convention, although most of the professionals in the party favored Senator Robert A. Taft.

Taft followers have never forgiven Dewey for 1952. However, as a United States senator, he will have opportunities to win them over for what political value they now have. As secretary of state, he could only antagonize them. If the Republicans should succeed in organizing the Senate, Dewey's position would immediately become a significant one, for whereas he would be a junior in the Senate, he possesses marked seniority in his party.

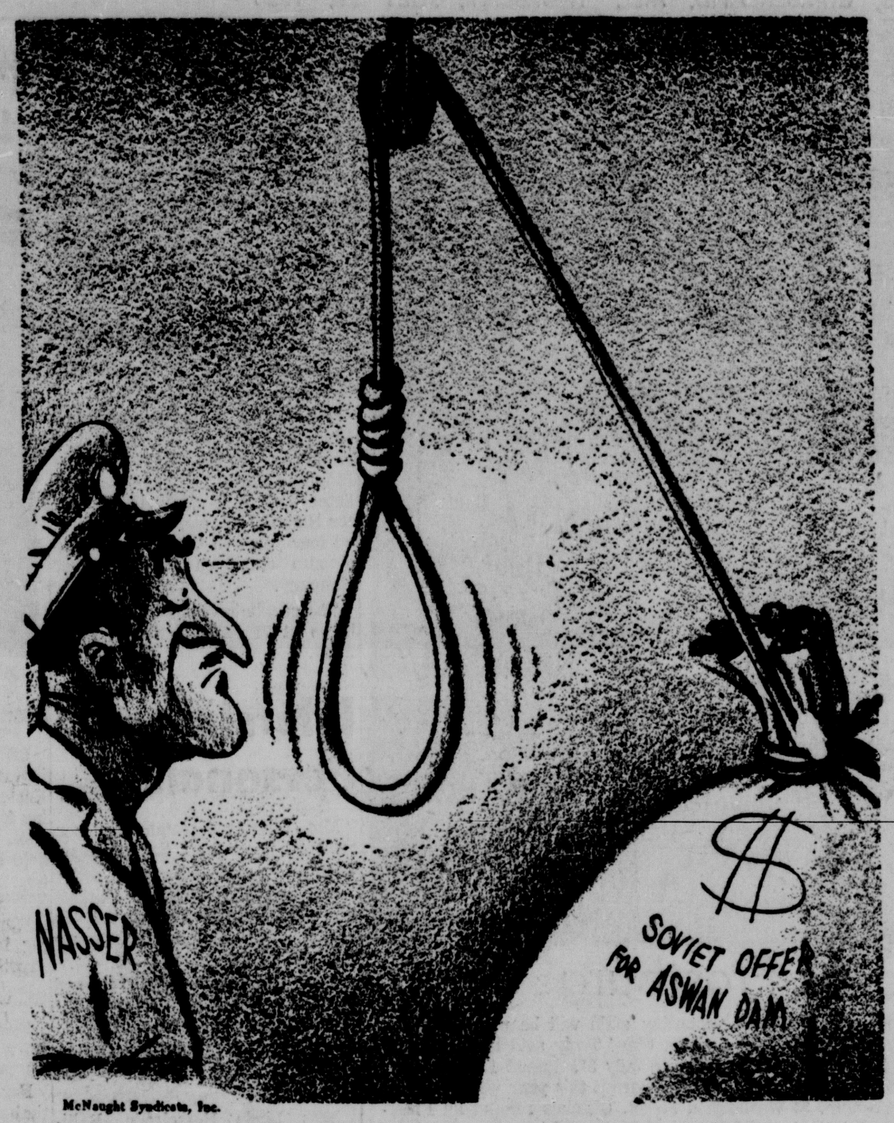
There's A String Attached



Stassen Faux Pas Could Split Republican Party

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Harold Stassen, once governor of Minnesota and now a special assistant to President Eisenhower in charge of "disarmament" negotiations, has made the biggest faux pas of his political career and set in motion a movement that could result in such a serious cleavage inside the Republican party as to destroy the chances of re-electing Mr. Eisenhower.

Merely to have announced that he favors Governor Herter instead of Vice President Nixon for the second place on the ticket would not in itself have caused such a big sensation, but the grounds on which Mr. Stassen put it reveals to the nation that there may be some serious dissension inside the Eisenhower administration and that what's been regarded as an Eisenhower - Dulles pro - American policy is really being threatened from within by proponents of a pro-European and pro-Asian policy.

The key sentence in Mr. Stassen's strange declaration is this: "The independent people at home, important portions of the population abroad, and the uncommitted nations in the world would have greater confidence in an Eisenhower-Herter ticket."

Hurts Herter Too

It will be a surprise to most Americans to learn that European and Asian leaders have to be satisfied before the Republican National Convention can pick a vice presidential nominee. For undoubtedly Mr. Nixon doesn't please Messrs. Nasser, Nehru and Tito. This would give the Democrats, of course, a lively issue, as the voters in the past have shown themselves very sensitive about any suggestions that they must consider foreign influences in deciding an American election.

Governor Herter is a fine man and an able one but now he becomes identified with all the handicaps of his sponsor—Mr. Stassen—and of the New York City group, too, which is backing this latest move to "dump Nixon."

The innuendo in the Stassen statement about "important portions of the population abroad and the uncommitted nations in the world" liking Mr. Herter so much could split the Republican party. For obviously many Middle West Republicans are bound to look with suspicion on any movement that is tied up with foreign economic or financial intrigue. Mr. Stassen himself is vulnerable on this phase of present-day policies. Only last week Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, issued a majority report bitterly criticizing Mr. Stassen for helping the Russians get materials they could use in armament preparations. Mr. McClellan wrote:

"As is clearly documented in the report (concerning the relaxation of international controls over trade with the Soviet bloc), the American people and Congress were misled about the results of this 1954 agreement (with the Allies) by the statements of Mr. Harold Stassen while he was Battle Act Administrator."

The report itself says:

"The Battle Act (Mutual Defense Assistance Control Act of 1951) calls for termination of aid to nations that knowingly ship items of strategic significance to the Communist nations . . .

Says Stassen Circumvented Act

"Mr. Harold E. Stassen, as Battle Act administrator, in effect circumvented the Battle Act by determining that items of manifest strategic significance, and which had been so regarded prior to the 1954 revision, were not strategic for purposes of Allied trade with the Communistic bloc."

The report goes on to accuse Mr. Stassen of having "misrepresented facts," and as having been "an arrogant, evasive and uncandid witness" when he testified. It says that he "is to be severely criticized for his conduct in the matter."

The big question now will arise as to what group or groups were behind Mr. Stassen, both in this country and in Western countries, in trying to soften the embargo on strategic commodities and whether any of the same influences now are behind his sponsoring of Governor Herter as a vice presidential candidate. For a move such as Harold Stassen made was no spur-of-the-moment decision, but the carefully conceived plan of a group of New York business and financial men who have been trying all through the present session of Congress to get vast appropriations for foreign aid "without any strings."

There are unconfirmed rumors here that Paul Hoffman is one of the men back of the Herter candidacy. Mr. Hoffman was administrator of economic aid in Europe under President Truman and last week was nominated as a Republican to be a delegate to the U. N. Although he was confirmed, 16 Republicans and 6 Democrats in the Senate voted against him.

Ike No Doublecrosser

Mr. Stassen says an Eisenhower-Herter ticket "will run at least six per cent stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket." But he has overlooked the prospect that, by dropping Nixon, there would be at 20 per cent defection of regular Republicans who wouldn't go to the polls at all if President Eisenhower goes back on his pledge to support Nixon. For that's what his statements have been construed to mean by Republican leaders from Chairman Leonard Hall down to the rank and file. "Doublecrossing" doesn't sit well in politics, and the betting is 100-to-1 that Mr. Eisenhower will never be guilty of it no matter how strong the pressure from close personal friends in New York City.

Meanwhile, the Democrats in Congress have indicated by their public comments how gleeful they now are over the prospect of a split in the Republican party. It's strange how the applecart can be upset overnight, and what looked like a sure thing for Mr. Eisenhower now becomes a big question mark until he himself clears the air.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Somehow or other the name of Roosevelt carries more weight than the tubs in the elephant acts.

Since 1896 there has always been a Roosevelt tossing his displacement around at tthe conventions. They started out as Republicans and saved their emoluments.

The family split wider apart than saddle-bags on a hippo when Alice Blue Roosevelt cracked about Eleanor, "She's a 42nd cousin of mine."

Alice was not only skimping the abacus but was also a bad judge of distance. Eleanor became the First Lady on the telephone. And by the same tape that measures Mickey Mantle's homers they were 84th cousins .

Which proves you should always keep a civil tongue in your bridgework.

The Republican Roosevelts flickered fatter when Teddy Jr. made his surprising gubernatorial run against Al Smith. His reward for that was exile to the Philippines.

The Readers Write With Complaints And Advice

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Apartment dwellers, please note: "Home air conditioners are wonderful but you have no idea how many sleepless nights I have had. I realize air conditioners are good, but the owner should consider the neighbors, too. There are four in our court. They are so loud and annoying that I was a nervous wreck all last summer."

This Chicago woman has a legitimate complaint and those who own an air conditioner should keep the machine well adjusted to minimize noise.

A few months ago an article appeared on the seven deadly sins in the kitchen. We received several letters on additional sins that are worth passing along. The wife of a physician mentioned the deadliest of all. "Never heat paraffin in a container directly over an open flame. A friend of mine did this and her kitchen was wrecked by a horrible explosion." The can or jar of paraffin should be placed in a large pan of water and then placed on the burner.

Another sin: "After working with turpentine, do not go near an open flame until you have thoroughly washed the hands with soap and water." Unless this is done a serious burn may ensue.

From time to time I am accused of not liking fat people. Many of my friends are stout and now and then I have trouble keeping my weight down. I write about obesity because it is a health hazard. A 5' 10" Chicagoan who weights 220 to 240 pounds writes:

"I have a hernia and was told to wear a truss because of my size. But I preferred to be operated on. My surgeon did it and I went to work shortly thereafter and have not been bothered since. You are always picking on the overweight and by doing so you may scare them so they will not be operated on. I know many fat fellows who were operated on successfully."

So do I, but the risk is higher; consequently most surgeons suggest weight reduction first.

Last year we received a letter from someone who had heard that mouse milk was good for arthritis. He wanted additional data on the type of mouse that was needed and how to obtain the milk. I replied that this was new to me. A Rochester, Wis., woman sent me the following clip which is self-explanatory:

"A unique mouse dairy is operated at Columbia University as part of a research program to study the causes of breast cancer among women. A mouse can be milked only once during her pregnancy, and only one cc. of milk is received from each milking. It takes 5,000 black and white mice six months to produce a single quart of mouse milk. Estimated value: $10,000."

TOMORROW: Sun worshippers, beware.

SHE'S NERVOUS

Mrs. H. writes: Can you advise me about high blood pressure, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, fast pulse, and falling hair? These are some of my problems.

REPLY

I'll wager if you could control your nervousness, the majority of your symptoms would vanish. There are many remedies for the conditions you describe but more lasting relief will require cooperation with your physician.

CELL STUDY FOR CANCER

C. W. writes: What is a cytology test?

REPLY

Certain secretions of the body contain cells that have been cast off by the lining membranes. This is true particularly of the vagina, cervix, prostate, lungs, and stomach. Cancer cells also are shed in this way and, by collecting the secretions and sending them to the laboratory, diagnosis is possible. This is the principle behind the cytological test for cancer.

WATER BLOATING

C. R. writes: Why does water cause me to feel bloated, even when I drink only small amounts?

REPLY

I don't know, unless you swallow air along with the fluid. In a person with a tendency toward indigestion, anything that enters the stomach, including water, may bring on symptoms.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A Hollywood babe managed to latch on to an inconspicuous part in a great screen epic. The director was an exacting executive with an unlimited bankroll, so the projected two months shooting schedule stretched out to four months, then to six. Finally the bored "actress" inquired plaintively of a columnist, "Say, who do you think I'd have to romance to get out of this darn picture?"

This heartwarming variant of the usual dolorous evidence of broken marriages in the classified ad columns was inserted in a Philadelphia newspaper:

"I am responsible for all debts and obligations of my wife, Selma, both present and future, and am simply delighted to be the provider for a woman who has borne me two lovely children and with an overabundance of love and care has made the past eight years of married life the nicest years of my life. On this, our eighth anniversary, I wish to publicly express my gratitude."

Government Machinery Sometimes Has Strange Wheels Within Wheels

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Strange wheels within wheels sometimes operate the machinery of democracy. When a solon makes an impassioned speech on the floor of Congress, vows by all that's holy that he is convinced a certain bill will ruin the republic. you never can be quite sure what's behind that speech. Sometimes he's just scratching someone's back in return for a favor that someone will do him. Here are some current examples:

Backscratch No. 1—"I make this motion in utter sincerity," proclaimed GOP Congressman William E. Miller of Lockport, N. Y., last week, "because I am profoundly convinced that this legislation in its present form will destroy more civil liberties and civil rights than it will ever protect."

The congressman referred to the civil rights bill to protect the voting rights of Negroes. He himself had signed his name to the bill as a co-author. Up until he made the above speech, he was vigorously for the bill. Then suddenly he moved to throw the entire bill into the legislative ashcan.

Nobody could have sounded more choked with "utter sincerity" and overflowing with "profound conviction" as he spoke than the congressman from Lockport.

But colleagues who listened were not profoundly impressed. For they were certain that behind the speech was a backscratch whereby two Southerners on the Rules Committee, Colmer of Mississippi and Smith of Virginia, would agree to block the Niagara Falls bill, turning power over to public, not private, development, if Miller tried to block civil rights.

Miller long has been known as the congressional champion of private utilities. Three years ago he authored the bill, strongly opposed by Governor Dewey, turning Niagara power over to five utilities. And he opposed the recent Lehman bill for public development of Niagara. The Lehman bill, however, passed the Senate, and the only thing that could stop passage in the House was a blockade in the Rules Committee, of which Colmer and Smith are key members.

Backscratch No. 2 — Two important bills to protect small business are: (1) the equality of opportunity bill to prevent chain stores and big oil companies from undercutting independents; and (2) the pre-merger notification bill requiring big firms to notify the Justice Department before merging.

Both have passed the House, thanks to the tireless pushing of the two foremost champions of small business—Manny Celler of Brooklyn and Wright Patman of Texarkana, Texas, Democrats. But they have been stuck in the Senate Judiciary Committee, thanks to Welker of Idaho, Dirksen of Illinois, and Jenner of Indiana—all Republicans.

Last Friday the committee met to pry the two bills loose. But Welker sent a telegram from Idaho demanding no action until the next Friday, by which time Congress would probably adjourn. Senator Joe O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, staunch champion of small business, was furious.

"The last regular meeting of this committee was on Monday," he said "Under the rules, the senator from Idaho can delay only until the next regular meeting—which will be Monday, not next Monday."

Welker was backscratching chiefly for big business, which opposes both bills; partly for Attorney General Brownell, who officially favors the pre-merger notification but is against the equality of opportunity bill.

Backscratch No. 3. — Occurred over a bill to deny minority stockholders the right to elect directors to bank boards, as required under the New Deal bank reforms of 1933. Big bankers want this repealed, but are letting small banks do the lobbying.

Last year, Kentucky's courtly, conscientious Brent Spence refused to introduce the bill in the House, also refused to hold hearings on an identical bill that passed the Senate. "It's a bad bill," he said.

However, ex-Speaker Joe Martin, Republican, recently approached Spence, a Democrat. Martin had received a call from the Manufacturers National Bank in North Attleboro, Mass., of which he is a director. Joe urged passage. White House emissionaries also applied the heat. Chairman Spence, who rules the Banking and Currency Committee with a firm though courteous hand, reversed himself.

"The administration wants this passed," he told Democratic members of his committee. Suddenly Spence began to turn handsprings for the "ball bill" which he had once refused to introduce.

Last week he demanded fast action, Congressman Multer of Brooklyn objected, demanded hearings, then proposed amendments. Spence ignored his amendments, called for a vote. The committee voted at 12:03 p. m. to send the bill to the House for final action. This was three minutes after the House had convened, therefore the vote was illegal. But Chairman Spence gaveled it through anyway.

Thus was speeded the end of a banking reform passed when the banks went haywire in 1933 and closed their doors all over the nation. Thus also operate the sometimes unwieldly wheels of the machinery of democracy.

Washington Pipeline

Secretary of Defense Wilson has been trying to spot the leak of anti-Air Force stories to the press, particularly the big scoop scored by Tony Leviero of the New York Times regarding the proposed 800,000 manpower cut in the Army. Wilson finally put the finger on Gen. L. C. Metheny, gave him a choice of retiring or being shipped out of Washington. Metheny decided to retire.... Congressman John Dowdy (D., Tex.) had his wife on the payroll for $9,128 a year up until April 30. Then the folks down in Texas got irked and he dropped her.

Inconvenient Question

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Suppose the President of the United States knew that full use of American air-atomic power against Soviet and satellite targets would risk the death of eight out of ten people in Southern England, Southern Ireland, and on much of the continent. Under what circumstances, in response to what degree of provocation, would the President accept the risk?

This question is not theoretical and abstract. It does not apply to some hypothetical future strategic situation. It applies to our strategic situation today.

The question, moreover, lies at the heart of a bitter debate on national strategy now going on beneath the surface throughout the higher levels of government.

Surface Symptoms

There have been certain surface symptoms of the debate. One was the report that the administration was considering a gradual reduction of 800,000 men in the armed services, coupled with increasing reliance on nuclear weapons. Another was Lt. Gen. James Gavin's testimony that an all-out hydrogen attack would cause "several hundred millions" of deaths, in Allied countries as well as in the Soviet Union. And another was Atomic Energy Chairman Lewis Strauss' recent hint that radioactive fall-out could be controlled — a hint which was, it can now be confidently stated, thoroughly disingenous.

It has been said that there was "nothing new" in Gavin's testimony, according to which the area of lethal radioactive fall-out could "extend well back up into Western Europe." Actually the information in Gavin's testimony was new, in an important sense.

In February 1955, Strauss belatedly issued a statement on the fall-out effect of the 1954 hydrogen bomb test. The area affected, Strauss indicated, was about 7,000 square miles in extent, and the maximum lethal range from the point of explosion was well under 200 miles. Since both London and Paris are over 500 miles from East Berlin or Prague, the nearest possible targets for the Strategic Air Command, Gaven's testimony does not fit the pattern described by Strauss.

But Gavin was not by any means talking through his hat. On the contrary, studies by the Weather Bureau, the Federal Civil Defense Agency, the Army and the Air Force have all shown the range of lethal fall-out can be very much greater than indicated by Strauss. The Weather Bureau — FCDA studies, for example, have shown that a single high yield hydrogen bomb exploded on Chicago could, under special weather conditions, cause dangerous fall-out over Buffalo, N. Y., a distance of 454 miles.

Logical Assumption

Even greater fall - out ranges were indicated in the Army and Air Force studies. The Army study, with which the independent Air Force analysis differed only in degree, indicated that the area of heavy mortality from an all-out attack on the Soviet-satellite area would reach to the north of London and even into Ireland. Heavy mortality is defined as 80 per cent deaths among an unwarned population.

There are a number of reasons why the mortality range is so much greater than indicated in the 1955 statement by Strauss. The most important is that multiple ground bursts were assumed in the Army and Air Force analysis.

The assumption is logical, since the Strategic Air Command's number one mission — knocking out Soviet air-atomic power—requires ground bursts on very large numbers of Soviet and satellite airfields and other primary targets. Multiple ground bursts would result in an over-lapping pattern of fall-out. At a given distance from the point of explosion, the fall-out from one bomb might not be lethal. But the fall-out from a second bomb, or a third, or a fourth, would add up to lethality at great ranges.

The fall-out effect could be minimized by exploding all bombs high in the air, which is really about all that the much-publicized Strauss' hints that fall-out can be controlled really amounted to. But, for reasons explained in a previous report, using only high air bursts would mean abandoning or sharply downgrading SAC's primary mission. And if the Western world is to continue to exist physically, Soviet air-atomic power must at all costs be destroyed in the first few days of global war.

Inconvenient Question

These are unpleasant facts. Yet they are facts, nevertheless, which "touch the very basis of our morality" to repeat the words used by Dr. Robert Oppenheimer when the debate about the hydrogen bomb first raged. These facts also touch the very basis of our national strategy, which rests squarely and more and more exclusively on the assumption that our stockpile of hydrogen bombs will deter war.

But, as one party to the current dispute has remarked, "If you are deterred by your own deterrent, does your deterrent truly deter?" It is an inconvenient question, but it is time to face up to it.

Living Standard Goes Up And Up

The gross national product — national income which comprises all the goods and services produced within a given period — has reached a rate of more than $400 billion a year, and most Americans are optimists enough to expect it to stay above that mark. In 1933 the gross national product was $56 billion, a figure only about one-seventh as great. But the buying power of the dollar fluctuates, and a dollar would buy considerably more in 1933 than it would in 1923 or 1943. Another thing that makes the raw figures misleading is that the population has been increasing rapidly—from 124 million in 1933 to 168 million today. So the 1933 gross national product wasn't as low as it seems, because it had to be divided among fewer people.

The best way to get an idea of how far the economy has advanced in the last few decades is to take into account both the fluctuations in the value of the dollar and the increases in population.

Thus the gross national product for the first quarter of 1956 represented a per capita product of $2,012 in terms of 1947 dollars. The average American, that statistical figment, would therefore be able to produce and consume about three times as much in 1956 as in 1933—if income taxes had not zoomed.

This is a period of prosperity and high employment, so the comparison with the depression low still exaggerates the real gains of the American economy. Let's run a comparison with the peak year of 1929. (That was the year in which the stock market crash hit, but it came too late in the year, and produced too delayed an effect, to reduce national income much.)

In 1929 dollars, the 1929 gross national product was $104.4 billion. But in terms of 1947 dollars it represented a buying power of about $916 per capita. The current figure is more than double that.

These Days

Tom Dewey's Politics

As the election approaches, the Republicans in New York State find themselves in a more desperate situation than most of them are willing to admit. They can lose that state with its 45 electoral votes because of an internecine fight over the candidacy for the United States Senate.

Thus far, the most successfully projected aspirant is Jacob Javits, the attorney general, whom most Republicans do not want for many reasons, some of which no one wants to say out loud yet. On the other hand, there is a deal between Javits and Oswald Heck, a powerful member of the state legislature who aspires to be the candidate for governor. Heck is hardly known in the New York City metropolitan area but is popular up-state; Javits has organized political power among the minority groups in New York City and has a following among the socialistic Liberal party members but is disliked by up-state Republicans who wonder how he ever worked his way into the Republican party. So Heck and Javits combined to boost each other—Javits for U. S. senator in 1956, Heck for governor in 1958.

The danger to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket this year is that this plan is splitting the Republicans in this crucial state and that many will stay at home on election day rather than vote for Javits. If the Democratic candidate is Herbert Lehman, these Republicans will have no one to vote for. And this has nothing to do with anti-Semitism. It is just that most Republicans are conservatives and do not care to vote for left wingers.

So, they are pinning their hopes on the ability of the party management to convince Tom Dewey, the erstwhile candidate for the presidency, to run for United States senator. They hold that Dewey can win hands down. Thus far, Dewey has shown reluctance. He is said to be delighted with his private law practice and the comfort of earning some money after a long career in public life.

On the other hand, it is generally believed that John Foster Dulles is reaching a saturation point in the amount of intrigue he has to surmount in the State Department. With Harold Stassen, W. H. Jackson, C. D. Jackson (out of office), Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Paul Hoffman and now Sherman Adams, all putting their mixing spoons into the foreign affairs pot, with the Acheson left-overs sticking their legs out for Dulles and Herbert Hoover Jr. to trip over, it is beginning to be a bit wearisome. Therefore, if Dulles should resign after election day, if Eisenhower is re-elected, it is believed that the President would offer Dewey the secretaryship of state.

Dewey would make a competent secretary of state and would clean up the kitchen mess in which too many cooks have already spoiled too much. Harold Stassen is also said to aspire to this position or any other, but it is generally accepted that the President would prefer Dewey.

Therefore Thomas E. Dewey finds himself besieged by New York State Republicans to announce himself as an aspirant for the U. S. Senate candidacy; many national Republicans want him to hold himself in readiness to succeed Dulles; and his partners undoubtedly want him to stay with his present firm to which he has brought considerable business.

Dewey is a peculiar personality in that while he makes few warm friends, he is admired for his ability as an administrator and his capacity to grasp the innards of a problem. He was an extraordinarily competent governor of New York. Twice he tried for the Republican presidential nomination — really three times, if all the facts are clear. He was beaten for election by his own obstinacy. He, Sherman Adams and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. picked Eisenhower and boomed him so competently that Republican businessmen made pilgrimages to Paris where Eisenhower then was. They put Eisenhower over on the first ballot at the 1952 Republican Convention, although most of the professionals in the party favored Senator Robert A. Taft.

Taft followers have never forgiven Dewey for 1952. However, as a United States senator, he will have opportunities to win them over for what political value they now have. As secretary of state, he could only antagonize them. If the Republicans should succeed in organizing the Senate, Dewey's position would immediately become a significant one, for whereas he would be a junior in the Senate, he possesses marked seniority in his party.

Stassen Faux Pas Could Split Republican Party

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Harold Stassen, once governor of Minnesota and now a special assistant to President Eisenhower in charge of "disarmament" negotiations, has made the biggest faux pas of his political career and set in motion a movement that could result in such a serious cleavage inside the Republican party as to destroy the chances of re-electing Mr. Eisenhower.

Merely to have announced that he favors Governor Herter instead of Vice President Nixon for the second place on the ticket would not in itself have caused such a big sensation, but the grounds on which Mr. Stassen put it reveals to the nation that there may be some serious dissension inside the Eisenhower administration and that what's been regarded as an Eisenhower - Dulles pro - American policy is really being threatened from within by proponents of a pro-European and pro-Asian policy.

The key sentence in Mr. Stassen's strange declaration is this: "The independent people at home, important portions of the population abroad, and the uncommitted nations in the world would have greater confidence in an Eisenhower-Herter ticket."

Hurts Herter Too

It will be a surprise to most Americans to learn that European and Asian leaders have to be satisfied before the Republican National Convention can pick a vice presidential nominee. For undoubtedly Mr. Nixon doesn't please Messrs. Nasser, Nehru and Tito. This would give the Democrats, of course, a lively issue, as the voters in the past have shown themselves very sensitive about any suggestions that they must consider foreign influences in deciding an American election.

Governor Herter is a fine man and an able one but now he becomes identified with all the handicaps of his sponsor—Mr. Stassen—and of the New York City group, too, which is backing this latest move to "dump Nixon."

The innuendo in the Stassen statement about "important portions of the population abroad and the uncommitted nations in the world" liking Mr. Herter so much could split the Republican party. For obviously many Middle West Republicans are bound to look with suspicion on any movement that is tied up with foreign economic or financial intrigue. Mr. Stassen himself is vulnerable on this phase of present-day policies. Only last week Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, issued a majority report bitterly criticizing Mr. Stassen for helping the Russians get materials they could use in armament preparations. Mr. McClellan wrote:

"As is clearly documented in the report (concerning the relaxation of international controls over trade with the Soviet bloc), the American people and Congress were misled about the results of this 1954 agreement (with the Allies) by the statements of Mr. Harold Stassen while he was Battle Act Administrator."

The report itself says:

"The Battle Act (Mutual Defense Assistance Control Act of 1951) calls for termination of aid to nations that knowingly ship items of strategic significance to the Communist nations . . .

Says Stassen Circumvented Act

"Mr. Harold E. Stassen, as Battle Act administrator, in effect circumvented the Battle Act by determining that items of manifest strategic significance, and which had been so regarded prior to the 1954 revision, were not strategic for purposes of Allied trade with the Communistic bloc."

The report goes on to accuse Mr. Stassen of having "misrepresented facts," and as having been "an arrogant, evasive and uncandid witness" when he testified. It says that he "is to be severely criticized for his conduct in the matter."

The big question now will arise as to what group or groups were behind Mr. Stassen, both in this country and in Western countries, in trying to soften the embargo on strategic commodities and whether any of the same influences now are behind his sponsoring of Governor Herter as a vice presidential candidate. For a move such as Harold Stassen made was no spur-of-the-moment decision, but the carefully conceived plan of a group of New York business and financial men who have been trying all through the present session of Congress to get vast appropriations for foreign aid "without any strings."

There are unconfirmed rumors here that Paul Hoffman is one of the men back of the Herter candidacy. Mr. Hoffman was administrator of economic aid in Europe under President Truman and last week was nominated as a Republican to be a delegate to the U. N. Although he was confirmed, 16 Republicans and 6 Democrats in the Senate voted against him.

Ike No Doublecrosser

Mr. Stassen says an Eisenhower-Herter ticket "will run at least six per cent stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket." But he has overlooked the prospect that, by dropping Nixon, there would be at 20 per cent defection of regular Republicans who wouldn't go to the polls at all if President Eisenhower goes back on his pledge to support Nixon. For that's what his statements have been construed to mean by Republican leaders from Chairman Leonard Hall down to the rank and file. "Doublecrossing" doesn't sit well in politics, and the betting is 100-to-1 that Mr. Eisenhower will never be guilty of it no matter how strong the pressure from close personal friends in New York City.

Meanwhile, the Democrats in Congress have indicated by their public comments how gleeful they now are over the prospect of a split in the Republican party. It's strange how the applecart can be upset overnight, and what looked like a sure thing for Mr. Eisenhower now becomes a big question mark until he himself clears the air.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Somehow or other the name of Roosevelt carries more weight than the tubs in the elephant acts.

Since 1896 there has always been a Roosevelt tossing his displacement around at tthe conventions. They started out as Republicans and saved their emoluments.

The family split wider apart than saddle-bags on a hippo when Alice Blue Roosevelt cracked about Eleanor, "She's a 42nd cousin of mine."

Alice was not only skimping the abacus but was also a bad judge of distance. Eleanor became the First Lady on the telephone. And by the same tape that measures Mickey Mantle's homers they were 84th cousins .

Which proves you should always keep a civil tongue in your bridgework.

The Republican Roosevelts flickered fatter when Teddy Jr. made his surprising gubernatorial run against Al Smith. His reward for that was exile to the Philippines.

The Readers Write With Complaints And Advice

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Apartment dwellers, please note: "Home air conditioners are wonderful but you have no idea how many sleepless nights I have had. I realize air conditioners are good, but the owner should consider the neighbors, too. There are four in our court. They are so loud and annoying that I was a nervous wreck all last summer."

This Chicago woman has a legitimate complaint and those who own an air conditioner should keep the machine well adjusted to minimize noise.

A few months ago an article appeared on the seven deadly sins in the kitchen. We received several letters on additional sins that are worth passing along. The wife of a physician mentioned the deadliest of all. "Never heat paraffin in a container directly over an open flame. A friend of mine did this and her kitchen was wrecked by a horrible explosion." The can or jar of paraffin should be placed in a large pan of water and then placed on the burner.

Another sin: "After working with turpentine, do not go near an open flame until you have thoroughly washed the hands with soap and water." Unless this is done a serious burn may ensue.

From time to time I am accused of not liking fat people. Many of my friends are stout and now and then I have trouble keeping my weight down. I write about obesity because it is a health hazard. A 5' 10" Chicagoan who weights 220 to 240 pounds writes:

"I have a hernia and was told to wear a truss because of my size. But I preferred to be operated on. My surgeon did it and I went to work shortly thereafter and have not been bothered since. You are always picking on the overweight and by doing so you may scare them so they will not be operated on. I know many fat fellows who were operated on successfully."

So do I, but the risk is higher; consequently most surgeons suggest weight reduction first.

Last year we received a letter from someone who had heard that mouse milk was good for arthritis. He wanted additional data on the type of mouse that was needed and how to obtain the milk. I replied that this was new to me. A Rochester, Wis., woman sent me the following clip which is self-explanatory:

"A unique mouse dairy is operated at Columbia University as part of a research program to study the causes of breast cancer among women. A mouse can be milked only once during her pregnancy, and only one cc. of milk is received from each milking. It takes 5,000 black and white mice six months to produce a single quart of mouse milk. Estimated value: $10,000."

TOMORROW: Sun worshippers, beware.

SHE'S NERVOUS

Mrs. H. writes: Can you advise me about high blood pressure, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, fast pulse, and falling hair? These are some of my problems.

REPLY

I'll wager if you could control your nervousness, the majority of your symptoms would vanish. There are many remedies for the conditions you describe but more lasting relief will require cooperation with your physician.

CELL STUDY FOR CANCER

C. W. writes: What is a cytology test?

REPLY

Certain secretions of the body contain cells that have been cast off by the lining membranes. This is true particularly of the vagina, cervix, prostate, lungs, and stomach. Cancer cells also are shed in this way and, by collecting the secretions and sending them to the laboratory, diagnosis is possible. This is the principle behind the cytological test for cancer.

WATER BLOATING

C. R. writes: Why does water cause me to feel bloated, even when I drink only small amounts?

REPLY

I don't know, unless you swallow air along with the fluid. In a person with a tendency toward indigestion, anything that enters the stomach, including water, may bring on symptoms.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A Hollywood babe managed to latch on to an inconspicuous part in a great screen epic. The director was an exacting executive with an unlimited bankroll, so the projected two months shooting schedule stretched out to four months, then to six. Finally the bored "actress" inquired plaintively of a columnist, "Say, who do you think I'd have to romance to get out of this darn picture?"

This heartwarming variant of the usual dolorous evidence of broken marriages in the classified ad columns was inserted in a Philadelphia newspaper:

"I am responsible for all debts and obligations of my wife, Selma, both present and future, and am simply delighted to be the provider for a woman who has borne me two lovely children and with an overabundance of love and care has made the past eight years of married life the nicest years of my life. On this, our eighth anniversary, I wish to publicly express my gratitude."

Government Machinery Sometimes Has Strange Wheels Within Wheels

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Strange wheels within wheels sometimes operate the machinery of democracy. When a solon makes an impassioned speech on the floor of Congress, vows by all that's holy that he is convinced a certain bill will ruin the republic, you never can be quite sure what's behind that speech. Sometimes he's just scratching someone's back in return for a favor that someone will do him. Here are some current examples:

Backscratch No. 1—"I make this motion in utter sincerity," proclaimed GOP Congressman William E. Miller of Lockport, N. Y., last week, "because I am profoundly convinced that this legislation in its present form will destroy more civil liberties and civil rights than it will ever protect."

The congressman referred to the civil rights bill to protect the voting rights of Negroes. He himself had signed his name to the bill as a co-author. Up until he made the above speech, he was vigorously for the bill. Then suddenly he moved to throw the entire bill into the legislative ashcan.

Nobody could have sounded more choked with "utter sincerity" and overflowing with "profound conviction" as he spoke than the congressman from Lockport.

But colleagues who listened were not profoundly impressed. For they were certain that behind the speech was a backscratch whereby two Southerners on the Rules Committee, Colmer of Mississippi and Smith of Virginia, would agree to block the Niagara Falls bill, turning power over to public, not private, development, if Miller tried to block civil rights.

Miller long has been known as the congressional champion of private utilities. Three years ago he authored the bill, strongly opposed by Governor Dewey, turning Niagara power over to five utilities. And he opposed the recent Lehman bill for public development of Niagara. The Lehman bill, however, passed the Senate, and the only thing that could stop passage in the House was a blockade in the Rules Committee, of which Colmer and Smith are key members.

Backscratch No. 2 — Two important bills to protect small business are: (1) the equality of opportunity bill to prevent chain stores and big oil companies from undercutting independents; and (2) the pre-merger notification bill requiring big firms to notify the Justice Department before merging.

Both have passed the House, thanks to the tireless pushing of the two foremost champions of small business—Manny Celler of Brooklyn and Wright Patman of Texarkana, Texas, Democrats. But they have been stuck in the Senate Judiciary Committee, thanks to Welker of Idaho, Dirksen of Illinois, and Jenner of Indiana—all Republicans.

Last Friday the committee met to pry the two bills loose. But Welker sent a telegram from Idaho demanding no action until the next Friday, by which time Congress would probably adjourn. Senator Joe O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, staunch champion of small business, was furious.

"The last regular meeting of this committee was on Monday," he said "Under the rules, the senator from Idaho can delay only until the next regular meeting—which will be Monday, not next Monday."

Welker was backscratching chiefly for big business, which opposes both bills; partly for Attorney General Brownell, who officially favors the pre-merger notification but is against the equality of opportunity bill.

Backscratch No. 3. — Occurred over a bill to deny minority stockholders the right to elect directors to bank boards, as required under the New Deal bank reforms of 1933. Big bankers want this repealed, but are letting small banks do the lobbying.

Last year, Kentucky's courtly, conscientious Brent Spence refused to introduce the bill in the House, also refused to hold hearings on an identical bill that passed the Senate. "It's a bad bill," he said.

However, ex-Speaker Joe Martin, Republican, recently approached Spence, a Democrat. Martin had received a call from the Manufacturers National Bank in North Attleboro, Mass., of which he is a director. Joe urged passage. White House emissionaries also applied the heat. Chairman Spence, who rules the Banking and Currency Committee with a firm though courteous hand, reversed himself.

"The administration wants this passed," he told Democratic members of his committee. Suddenly Spence began to turn handsprings for the "ball bill" which he had once refused to introduce.

Last week he demanded fast action, Congressman Multer of Brooklyn objected, demanded hearings, then proposed amendments. Spence ignored his amendments, called for a vote. The committee voted at 12:03 p. m. to send the bill to the House for final action. This was three minutes after the House had convened, therefore the vote was illegal. But Chairman Spence gaveled it through anyway.

Thus was speeded the end of a banking reform passed when the banks went haywire in 1933 and closed their doors all over the nation. Thus also operate the sometimes unwieldly wheels of the machinery of democracy.

Secretary of Defense Wilson has been trying to spot the leak of anti-Air Force stories to the press, particularly the big scoop scored by Tony Leviero of the New York Times regarding the proposed 800,000 manpower cut in the Army. Wilson finally put the finger on Gen. L. C. Metheny, gave him a choice of retiring or being shipped out of Washington. Metheny decided to retire.... Congressman John Dowdy (D., Tex.) had his wife on the payroll for $9,128 a year up until April 30. Then the folks down in Texas got irked and he dropped her.

Inconvenient Question

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Suppose the President of the United States knew that full use of American air-atomic power against Soviet and satellite targets would risk the death of eight out of ten people in Southern England, Southern Ireland, and on much of the continent. Under what circumstances, in response to what degree of provocation, would the President accept the risk?

This question is not theoretical and abstract. It does not apply to some hypothetical future strategic situation. It applies to our strategic situation today.

The question, moreover, lies at the heart of a bitter debate on national strategy now going on beneath the surface throughout the higher levels of government.

Surface Symptoms

There have been certain surface symptoms of the debate. One was the report that the administration was considering a gradual reduction of 800,000 men in the armed services, coupled with increasing reliance on nuclear weapons. Another was Lt. Gen. James Gavin's testimony that an all-out hydrogen attack would cause "several hundred millions" of deaths, in Allied countries as well as in the Soviet Union. And another was Atomic Energy Chairman Lewis Strauss' recent hint that radioactive fall-out could be controlled — a hint which was, it can now be confidently stated, thoroughly disingenous.

It has been said that there was "nothing new" in Gavin's testimony, according to which the area of lethal radioactive fall-out could "extend well back up into Western Europe." Actually the information in Gavin's testimony was new, in an important sense.

In February 1955, Strauss belatedly issued a statement on the fall-out effect of the 1954 hydrogen bomb test. The area affected, Strauss indicated, was about 7,000 square miles in extent, and the maximum lethal range from the point of explosion was well under 200 miles. Since both London and Paris are over 500 miles from East Berlin or Prague, the nearest possible targets for the Strategic Air Command, Gaven's testimony does not fit the pattern described by Strauss.

But Gavin was not by any means talking through his hat. On the contrary, studies by the Weather Bureau, the Federal Civil Defense Agency, the Army and the Air Force have all shown the range of lethal fall-out can be very much greater than indicated by Strauss. The Weather Bureau — FCDA studies, for example, have shown that a single high yield hydrogen bomb exploded on Chicago could, under special weather conditions, cause dangerous fall-out over Buffalo, N. Y., a distance of 454 miles.

Logical Assumption

Even greater fall - out ranges were indicated in the Army and Air Force studies. The Army study, with which the independent Air Force analysis differed only in degree, indicated that the area of heavy mortality from an all-out attack on the Soviet-satellite area would reach to the north of London and even into Ireland. Heavy mortality is defined as 80 per cent deaths among an unwarned population.

There are a number of reasons why the mortality range is so much greater than indicated in the 1955 statement by Strauss. The most important is that multiple ground bursts were assumed in the Army and Air Force analysis.

The assumption is logical, since the Strategic Air Command's number one mission — knocking out Soviet air-atomic power—requires ground bursts on very large numbers of Soviet and satellite airfields and other primary targets. Multiple ground bursts would result in an over-lapping pattern of fall-out. At a given distance from the point of explosion, the fall-out from one bomb might not be lethal. But the fall-out from a second bomb, or a third, or a fourth, would add up to lethality at great ranges.

The fall-out effect could be minimized by exploding all bombs high in the air, which is really about all that the much-publicized Strauss' hints that fall-out can be controlled really amounted to. But, for reasons explained in a previous report, using only high air bursts would mean abandoning or sharply downgrading SAC's primary mission. And if the Western world is to continue to exist physically, Soviet air-atomic power must at all costs be destroyed in the first few days of global war.

Inconvenient Question

These are unpleasant facts. Yet they are facts, nevertheless, which "touch the very basis of our morality" to repeat the words used by Dr. Robert Oppenheimer when the debate about the hydrogen bomb first raged. These facts also touch the very basis of our national strategy, which rests squarely and more and more exclusively on the assumption that our stockpile of hydrogen bombs will deter war.

But, as one party to the current dispute has remarked, "If you are deterred by your own deterrent, does your deterrent truly deter?" It is an inconvenient question, but it is time to face up to it.

Canal Tunnel Near Paw Paw Being Restored

Crew Will Also Clear Tow Path

PAW PAW — Restoration of the old C&O Canal tunnel near here is underway with a crew of Paw Paw area men working under supervision of a National Parks Service foreman.

The first job the crew tackled was clearing brush from the western mouth of the tunnel that was partially covered.

Arvie C. Canfield, an assistant carpenter foreman for the National Parks Service, is in charge of the project.

The Interior Department also intends to improve the tow path of the canal from Paw Paw to Cumberland so it will be suitable for hikers.

The tunnel was one of the engineering feats of the 185½-mile long canal and by cutting through this mountain there was a saving of five miles in the overall distance.

The tunnel is 3,118 feet long and is 24 feet wide, of which the towpath takes up five feet.

When the canal was in operation, the water was seven feet deep and the roof of the tunnel 17 feet above the water. The arched roof is constructed of bricks 18 inches thick.

Some of the bricks have fallen down in recent years due to seepage, but in general the tunnel has remained in good repair.

The repair project is expected to take another two months.

Canal Tunnel Near Paw Paw Being Restored

Crew Will Also Clear Tow Path

PAW PAW — Restoration of the old C&O Canal tunnel near here is underway with a crew of Paw Paw area men working under supervision of a National Parks Service foreman.

The first job the crew tackled was clearing brush from the western mouth of the tunnel that was partially covered.

Arvie C. Canfield, an assistant carpenter foreman for the National Parks Service, is in charge of the project.

The Interior Department also intends to improve the tow path of the canal from Paw Paw to Cumberland so it will be suitable for hikers.

The tunnel was one of the engineering feats of the 185½-mile long canal and by cutting through this mountain there was a saving of five miles in the overall distance.

The tunnel is 3,118 feet long and is 24 feet wide, of which the towpath takes up five feet.

When the canal was in operation, the water was seven feet deep and the roof of the tunnel 17 feet above the water. The arched roof is constructed of bricks 18 inches thick.

Some of the bricks have fallen down in recent years due to seepage, but in general the tunnel has remained in good repair.

The repair project is expected to take another two months.

Braves Increase NL Lead, Brooklyn Edges Cincinnati, 2-1

Grand-Slam Homer Downs Giants, 7-4

Thomson Sparks Milwaukee Rally With Long Hit

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP) — A grand-slam home run by ex-Giant Bobby Thomson brought the Milwaukee Braves from behind in a 7-4 victory over last place New York today and hoisted their National League lead to 4½ games.

Second place Cincinnati lost to Brooklyn in a night game.

The defeat was the seventh in succession for the Giants, who have dissipated early leads in each of the last five games.

Eddie Mathews shared hitting honors with Thomson. The slugging third baseman emerged from a prolonged batting slump with four hits including a home run, his 18th of the season. Thomson's homer was his 15th.

Bob Buhl went the distance for his 13th triumph against four defeats although it was not one of his better performances. The strongarmed righthander was tagged for eleven hits, including a home run by Bill White, but received outstanding defensive support, especially by second baseman Danny O'Connell and shortstop Johnny Logan.

Red Worthington was charged with the defeat, his 12th against four victories. The big righthander was racked up for five runs, all resulting from home runs, before yielding to Marv Grissom in the sixth.

The Braves added a pair of insurance runs in the ninth against Windy McCall on a single by Buhl, Billy Bruton's double and Mathews' fourth hit, a run-scoring single.

Trailing 1-0 as a result of Mathews' fourth inning homer, the Giants came to life in the fifth, scoring three runs on four hits and a couple of Milwaukee errors.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Braves and their 14th in their last 16 games.

Tiger Homers Top Orioles, 6-2

DETROIT, July 25 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers exploded four eighth inning runs, three of them on a home run by catcher Frank House, to defeat the Baltimore Orioles today 6-2.

Earl Torgeson, who had driven across the first two Detroit runs with his 10th home run in the sixth inning scored the winning run. He led off the eighth with a walk, went to third on Charley Maxwell's single and scored as Al Kaline flied out.

Ray Boone's third straight single set the stage for the three-run clout by House.

The victory went to righthander Paul Foytack, who blanked the Orioles over the last two innings in relief of starter Virgil Trucks.

PGA Sponsors Look For Spark

Interest In Golf Tournament Wanes

CANTON, Mass., July 25 (AP) — What can be done to inject a spark of new life in the Professional Golfers Assn. match-play championship, which is declining in prestige and interest?

Although excellently conducted, the tournament was far from a financial success. The crowds were comparatively small, the interest well below that generated by such tournaments as the Masters and the National Open.

"This should be the highlight tournament of the pro season," said Burke. "It's our own tournament. It should be the best."

There is strong sentiment that the five-year probation rule should be altered or sacked. The rule requires a five-year professional apprenticeship before a pro can compete.

Snider Belts 24th Homer To Beat Redlegs

Newcombe Is Victor Over Lawrence On Ninth Inning Blast

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 25 (AP)—Duke Snider sent his 24th home run over the center field fence with one out in the ninth inning to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs tonight, breaking up a dandy pitching duel between Don Newcombe and previously once-beaten Brooks Lawrence.

Snider's bust up blow, a 400-foot-plus job, was only the fourth Brooklyn hit and lifted the third place world champions to within 1½ games of the second place Redlegs. Cincinnati tumbled 4½ games behind first place Milwaukee, a 7-4 afternoon winner over the New York Giants.

Tribe Homers Sink Nats 11-3

Avila And Hegan Belt For Circuit

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP)—Home runs by Bob Avila and Jim Hegan helped Herb Score win his ninth game of the season today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Washington Nationals 11-3 at Municipal Stadium.

Score, who has lost six games, pitched five-hit ball, holding the Nationals to two singles until the eighth inning, when Roy Sievers' 19th homer of the season over the left field fence drove in all the visitors' runs. The young lefthander struck out 10 batters to boost his league-leading total to 140.

Archie Moore Scores TKO Over Parker

Bout Ends In Ninth, Loser Badly Beaten

TORONTO, July 25 (AP)—Ancient Archie Moore, No. 1 claimant to the world heavyweight title, found James J. Parker an easy target tonight and turned the lanky Canadian's face into a bloody mask to win on a technical knockout in 2:02 of the ninth round at Maple Leaf Stadium.

Archie, self crowned heavyweight "champ" since Rocky Marciano retired, toyed with the unranked Toronto giant. Although he never dropped him, Moore had sliced Parker's left eye and had drawn a bucket of red before it was stopped.

The expected victory by Moore, a 1 to 4 favorite, sent the light-heavy king from San Diego into a probable Sept. 18 match with Floyd Patterson of New York at Yankee Stadium.

Parker didn't give the big crowd, estimated at well over 20,000 much to cheer about. Moore, five inches shorter in height and two inches less in reach, beat him to the punch repeatedly with his talented left jab and uppercut. At times he feinted the 6-3¾ Canadian into a pretzel.

Although the scheduled 15-round match had been given full ballyhoo treatment of a London-type promotion by Jack Solomons and was billed for "the world heavyweight championship" it was recognized as such only by the promoters.

Moore, who admits to 39 but is carried as 42 in the ring record books, never had much to worry about. It looked as though he was going to take Parker out of there in the very first round but was content to jab away, biding his time. In the fourth, Moore opened the gash over Parker's left eye and in the sixth he widened the cut and added another.

The referee went to Parker's corner after the fourth to examine the eye and Dr. Thomas Flummerfelt, the Ontario commission physician, climbed in to look at the eye after the fifth. He didn't come back again, but the referee kept visiting the corner and finally stepped between them in the ninth.

It was a big pay day for Moore who was guaranteed $40,000 plus $5,000 for expenses with a privilege of 35 per cent of the gate. Parker, whose age is variously given as 26 and 28, got no guarantee, but was in on a 22½ percentage.

DULUTH, Minn., July 25 (AP) — Slim Marlene Bauer Hagge, who vaulted into the front ranks of women's golf by conquering first round jitters, guns for the blue ribbon prize of her career tomorrow in the start of the Women's National Open.

The young, brown-haired pro from Asheville, N. C., and veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., were the nearest approach to anything resembling a favorite for the 72 hole medal tournament, and many circuit regulars were leaning toward Mrs. Hagge.

Braves Increase NL Lead, Brooklyn Edges Cincinnati, 2-1

Grand-Slam Homer Downs Giants, 7-4

Thomson Sparks Milwaukee Rally With Long Hit

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP) — A grand-slam home run by ex-Giant Bobby Thomson brought the Milwaukee Braves from behind in a 7-4 victory over last place New York today and hoisted their National League lead to 4½ games.

Second place Cincinnati lost to Brooklyn in a night game.

The defeat was the seventh in succession for the Giants, who have dissipated early leads in each of the last five games.

Eddie Mathews shared hitting honors with Thomson. The slugging third baseman emerged from a prolonged batting slump with four hits including a home run, his 18th of the season. Thomson's homer was his 15th.

Bob Buhl went the distance for his 13th triumph against four defeats although it was not one of his better performances. The strongarmed righthander was tagged for eleven hits, including a home run by Bill White, but received outstanding defensive support, especially by second baseman Danny O'Connell and shortstop Johnny Logan.

Red Worthington was charged with the defeat, his 12th against four victories. The big righthander was racked up for five runs, all resulting from home runs, before yielding to Marv Grissom in the sixth.

The Braves added a pair of insurance runs in the ninth against Windy McCall on a single by Buhl, Billy Bruton's double and Mathews' fourth hit, a run-scoring single.

Trailing 1-0 as a result of Mathews' fourth inning homer, the Giants came to life in the fifth, scoring three runs on four hits and a couple of Milwaukee errors.

Tiger Homers Top Orioles, 6-2

DETROIT, July 25 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers exploded four eighth inning runs, three of them on a home run by catcher Frank House, to defeat the Baltimore Orioles today 6-2.

Earl Torgeson, who had driven across the first two Detroit runs with his 10th home run in the sixth inning scored the winning run. He led off the eighth with a walk, went to third on Charley Maxwell's single and scored as Al Kaline flied out.

Ray Boone's third straight single set the stage for the three-run clout by House.

The victory went to righthander Paul Foytack, who blanked the Orioles over the last two innings in relief of starter Virgil Trucks.

PGA Sponsors Look For Spark

Interest In Golf Tournament Wanes

CANTON, Mass., July 25 (AP) — What can be done to inject a spark of new life in the Professional Golfers Assn. match-play championship, which is declining in prestige and interest?

Officials of the association and the tournament pros debated the problem today in the wake of the 38th annual tournament, won by Jack Burke Jr.

Although excellently conducted, the tournament was far from a financial success. The crowds were comparatively small, the interest well below that generated by such tournaments as the Masters and the National Open.

"This should be the highlight tournament of the pro season," said Burke. "It's our own tournament. It should be the best."

There is strong sentiment that the five-year probation rule should be altered or sacked. The rule requires a five-year professional apprenticeship before a pro can compete.

The rule this year kept out Mike Souchak, Gene Littler and Dow Finsterwald, leading money winners not yet past the five-year stage.

Snider Belts 24th Homer To Beat Redlegs

Newcombe Is Victor Over Lawrence On Ninth Inning Blast

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 25 (AP)—Duke Snider sent his 24th home run over the center field fence with one out in the ninth inning to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs tonight, breaking up a dandy pitching duel between Don Newcombe and previously once-beaten Brooks Lawrence.

Snider's bust up blow, a 400-foot-plus job, was only the fourth Brooklyn hit and lifted the third place world champions to within 1½ games of the second place Redlegs. Cincinnati tumbled 4½ games behind first place Milwaukee, a 7-4 afternoon winner over the New York Giants.

Newcombe, winning his 14th against five defeats and finally nailing the only team he hadn't beaten this season, gave up five hits, struck out nine and walked only one. At one stretch, he retired 13 batters in a row before Lawrence broke the spell with a one-out single in the eighth.

All of the runs were supplied by homers. Rookie Frank Robinson tied into one of Newk's pitches for a 400-foot sock with two out in the third for a 1-0 Redleg lead. But the Brooks got even in the fourth when Carl Furillo, hitting in his 18th straight game, sent his 12th home run over the left field fence.

Tribe Homers Sink Nats 11-3

Avila And Hegan Belt For Circuit

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP)—Home runs by Bob Avila and Jim Hegan helped Herb Score win his ninth game of the season today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Washington Nationals 11-3 at Municipal Stadium.

Score, who has lost six games, pitched five-hit ball, holding the Nationals to two singles until the eighth inning, when Roy Sievers' 19th homer of the season over the left field fence drove in all the visitors' runs. The young lefthander struck out 10 batters to boost his league-leading total to 140.

Avila's fifth-inning wallop into the left field stands, his sixth homer of the season, gave the Indians their first three runs after Camilo Pascual had held the Tribe hitless for the first four frames. Hegan, who singled to open the fifth, and George Strickland, who had walked, scored ahead of Avila.

Bout Ends In Ninth, Loser Badly Beaten

TORONTO, July 25 (AP)—Ancient Archie Moore, No. 1 claimant to the world heavyweight title, found James J. Parker an easy target tonight and turned the lanky Canadian's face into a bloody mask to win on a technical knockout in 2:02 of the ninth round at Maple Leaf Stadium.

Parker at 211¼ had a 24¾ pound weight edge on Moore, who weighed 186½ pounds.

Archie, self crowned heavyweight "champ" since Rocky Marciano retired, toyed with the unranked Toronto giant. Although he never dropped him, Moore had sliced Parker's left eye and had drawn a bucket of red before it was stopped.

The expected victory by Moore, a 1 to 4 favorite, sent the light-heavy king from San Diego into a probable Sept. 18 match with Floyd Patterson of New York at Yankee Stadium.

The winner of this contest, when signed, will be universally recognized as Marciano's successor.

Parker didn't give the big crowd, estimated at well over 20,000 much to cheer about. Moore, five inches shorter in height and two inches less in reach, beat him to the punch repeatedly with his talented left jab and uppercut. At times he feinted the 6-3¾ Canadian into a pretzel.

Although the scheduled 15-round match had been given full ballyhoo treatment of a London-type promotion by Jack Solomons and was billed for "the world heavyweight championship" it was recognized as such only by the promoters.

Moore, who admits to 39 but is carried as 42 in the ring record books, never had much to worry about. It looked as though he was going to take Parker out of there in the very first round but was content to jab away, biding his time. In the fourth, Moore opened the gash over Parker's left eye and in the sixth he widened the cut and added another.

The referee went to Parker's corner after the fourth to examine the eye and Dr. Thomas Flummerfelt, the Ontario commission physician, climbed in to look at the eye after the fifth. He didn't come back again, but the referee kept visiting the corner and finally stepped between them in the ninth.

It was a big pay day for Moore who was guaranteed $40,000 plus $5,000 for expenses with a privilege of 35 per cent of the gate. Parker, whose age is variously given as 26 and 28, got no guarantee, but was in on a 22½ percentage.

Mrs. Hagge Picked To Win National Open Golf Tourney

DULUTH, Minn., July 25 (AP) — Slim Marlene Bauer Hagge, who vaulted into the front ranks of women's golf by conquering first round jitters, guns for the blue ribbon prize of her career tomorrow in the start of the Women's National Open.

The young, brown-haired pro from Asheville, N. C., and veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., were the nearest approach to anything resembling a favorite for the 72 hole medal tournament, and many circuit regulars were leaning toward Mrs. Hagge.

Marlene, winner of five titles this year and the season's top money earner, was wary of any favorite's labels but nevertheless styled her chances as "good."

Frank Stranahan Likes Chances In Eastern

$19,000 Golf Event To Begin Today

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Frank Stranahan, the professional who doesn't need the money, feels he's in his winning element on the Mount Pleasant golf course where the four-day Eastern Open tournament starts tomorrow.

The wealthy Toledo, Ohio, glamor boy of the amateurs won his first and only pro tournament at the long course with the widespread greens last year.

"On this type of course, I feel that if I can stay close to par I can win," he said on the eve of the $19,000 event. "And I'm not an exceptionally low scorer."

About 140 other pros and amateurs will tee off against the defending champion tomorrow. After two days, the 60 low scorers will continue for two more rounds.

"Personally, I like long courses, because I'm a long hitter and I car hit poor irons shots to the green and still get a par since I like long putts," he said in evaulating his chance to become the first repeater in seven Easterns.

Greenberg Says He's Satisfied With Al Lopez

Denies Durocher To Pilot Indians

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP) — Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg today denied a report he had offered Leo Durocher the manager's job of the Indians and said he was perfectly satisfied with Cleveland's current manager, Al Lopez.

Greenberg's statement was in reply to a story out of New York that he had spoken to a mutual friend of both his and Durocher's while in New York last week and requested the friend to "feel out" Durocher whether he'd be interested in piloting the Indians.

Greenberg was supposed to have offered the former skipper of the New York Giants a five-year contract at $100,000 a year.

"I have never talked to Leo Durocher about a job with the Indians," Greenberg said, "nor have I had anyone else do so.

"I am perfectly satisfied with the job Al Lopez is doing and I expect the 1956 World Series to be played in Cleveland."

The Indians currently are in second place, trailing the New York Yankees by 8½ games.

Durocher, who made his first visit to the Polo Grounds last night since he severed his connections with baseball at the close of last season, refused to deny or confirm the report.

"Let's put it this way," he said. "I had dinner with Greenberg last week and we talked about lots of things but he never brought up the subject of managing the Indians. Hank and I are good friends, that's all."

There also had been an indication that Durocher was offered the job as manager of the Chicago Cubs earlier this summer. But in Chicago the club's director of player personnel, Wid Matthews, denied that any offer was made.

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Frank Stranahan, the professional who doesn't need the money, feels he's in his winning element on the Mount Pleasant golf course where the four-day Eastern Open tournament starts tomorrow.

King Hairan Wins Sixth Stakes Event

Edwards Colt Cops Great American Race

Jamaica, N. Y., July 25—(AP)—Leo Edwards' King Hairan, already established as one of the best 2-year-olds in the east, earned additional laurels today with a facile score in the 66th running of the $34,675 Great American at Jamaica race track today.

The son of King's Stride-Lady Hairan, ridden by the veteran Eddie Arcaro, sped the five and a half furlongs in the good time of 1:04 2/5 to win by a length and a quarter eased up over Cataula Farm's Beauguerre, the pride of New England, who was meeting defeat after five straight victories. Then there was a spread of eight lengths to Greentree Stable's Cohoes, who finished five lengths ahead of Little Hermit.

Mrs. John R. H. Thouron's Irish Straw was injured in the running and didn't finish.

King Hairan took the lead soon after the start and held sway all the way. Beauguerre moved from fifth place at the three eighth pole to challenge at the top of the stretch, but couldn't menace the winner at any stage.

The victory was the seventh in 10 starts for King Hairan, six of them stakes. He won the Florida Breeders and Juvenile at Hialeah, the Dinner at Gulfstream Park, Christiana at Delaware and Tremont at Jamaica before today's victory which netted Edwards, a Miami sportsman and former Florida racing commissioner, $22,400 net. The colt has now earned a total of $96,475.

Argentine Net Champ Had Luxury Life

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—A former Argentine women's tennis champion told the High Court today that her life on the international amateur circuit was "easy and full of luxury" and did not cost her "a cent."

Elena Lehmann, 30, of Buenos Aires, claimed damages as a result of a shoulder injury suffered in a car crash during the 1954 Wimbledon championships. The injury to her left shoulder ended her tennis career.

Miss Lehmann told the court that as an international player she never spent a "cent" on her living expenses and all travel was free. She had a car at her disposal and the luxury of her life was "unbelievable."

Stars To Practice

The Dan all-stars will practice today at 9 a. m. at Fort Hill field, coach George Gormer announced yesterday. The players will vie in the Dapper Dan Little League all-star game Friday at Penn Avenue field.

King Hairan Wins Sixth Stakes Event

Edwards Colt Cops Great American Race

Jamaica, N. Y., July 25—(AP)—Leo Edwards' King Hairan, already established as one of the best 2-year-olds in the east, earned additional laurels today with a facile score in the 66th running of the $34,675 Great American at Jamaica race track today.

The son of King's Stride-Lady Hairan, ridden by the veteran Eddie Arcaro, sped the five and a half furlongs in the good time of 1:04 2/5 to win by a length and a quarter eased up over Cataula Farm's Beauguerre, the pride of New England, who was meeting defeat after five straight victories. Then there was a spread of eight lengths to Greentree Stable's Cohoes, who finished five lengths ahead of Little Hermit.

Mrs. John R. H. Thouron's Irish Straw was injured in the running and didn't finish.

King Hairan took the lead soon after the start and held sway all the way. Beauguerre moved from fifth place at the three eighth pole to challenge at the top of the stretch, but couldn't menace the winner at any stage.

The victory was the seventh in 10 starts for King Hairan, six of them stakes. He won the Florida Breeders and Juvenile at Hialeah, the Dinner at Gulfstream Park, Christiana at Delaware and Tremont at Jamaica before today's victory which netted Edwards, a Miami sportsman and former Florida racing commissioner, $22,400 net. The colt has now earned a total of $96,475.

Argentine Net Champ Had Luxury Life

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—A former Argentine women's tennis champion told the High Court today that her life on the international amateur circuit was "easy and full of luxury" and did not cost her "a cent."

Elena Lehmann, 30, of Buenos Aires, claimed damages as a result of a shoulder injury suffered in a car crash during the 1954 Wimbledon championships. The injury to her left shoulder ended her tennis career.

Miss Lehmann told the court that as an international player she never spent a "cent" on her living expenses and all travel was free. She had a car at her disposal and the luxury of her life was "unbelievable."

Stars To Practice

The Dan all-stars will practice today at 9 a. m. at Fort Hill field, coach George Gormer announced yesterday. The players will vie in the Dapper Dan Little League all-star game Friday at Penn Avenue field.

City And Chamber Officials To Attend Airline Hearings

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan has prepared a petition for joint signatures of Mayor Roy W. Eves and the Chamber of Commerce in docketed cases before the Civil Aeronautics Board regarding proposed route changes by Allegheny Airlines.

The airlines recently disclosed it is seeking to eliminate its Pittsburgh to Cumberland and Cumberland to Pittsburgh flights and substitute a Cumberland, Morgantown, Canton, Ohio, Detroit flight.

Finan said the city and Chamber merely intervened to be a party to the proceedings so they will know what action is taken. He added no definite decision has been made whether the proposal is in the best interest of promotion of air travel in the area.

A meeting has been asked with airlines officials in a separate letter, Finan added.

Indications are the proposed changes are acceptable but city officials wanted to be present at hearings in Washington at a later date and are filing the petition for that purpose.

New Reserve Censor Unit Formed Here

A new Army reserve unit has been formed in Allegany County, bringing the total of active outfits to 11, it was announced yesterday at the Army Reserve Training Center, South Mechanic Street.

It is the 382d. Military Censor Detachment which has as its commanding officer First Lt. Joseph J. Byrnes of 809 Cecil Street.

Lt. Byrnes, who received his promotion from second to first lieutenant last week, is at Provost Marshal General's School, Camp Gordon, Ga., for a short tour of active duty.

Assisting him with the unit is Warrant Officer (j. g.) James B. Courtney.

The nucleus of the censor detachment is comprised of five youths who have enlisted in the eight-year program for the 17-18½-year-old age bracket.

This calls for six months of active duty at an Army camp close to Cumberland plus seven and one-half years service in a reserve unit.

The enlistees under this new outfit are Pvt. Lewis A. Chiccehito, McCoole; Pvt. James J. Lupis Jr., Lonaconing; Pvt. James E. Mallow, Frostburg; Pvt. Robert W. Powell, Frostburg, and Pvt. George W. Stimmel, Oldtown Road.

Area Students Fulfill Degree Requirements

Alice Rosemarie McGuire, this city, and Edward J. O'Rourke, Frostburg, are among 29 students at West Virginia University, Morgantown, who have fulfilled requirements for master's degrees in various subjects.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 25 (INS)—Henry Fonda returns to Hollywood by Oct. 1 to start "The Tin Star," a glorified western, for William Perlberg and George Seaton at Paramount. And the boy who is coming up the fastest of any young actor in Hollywood, Tony Perkins, also is in this picture.

Mark this Tony Perkins well. Not that I want to be clobbered by the loyal fans of James Dean, but not since Jimmy has there been a young actor with the talent and appeal of this boy. By the time he starts the Perlberg-Seaton picture he should be established as a full fledged star. He has a backlog of big pictures, "Friendly Persuasion," (with Gary Cooper), "The Lonely Man," (Jack Palance), "The Actress," with Jean Simmons and "The Jim Piersall Story" to put him over.

Ava Gardner's new heartbeat, good-looking Italian Walter Chiari, gets the comedy hole in "The Little Hut," and if she didn't like him she wouldn't have him around that close, you can bet on that.

Chiari plays the chef, shipwrecked at the same time with Ava, Stewart Granger and David Niven, who pretends he's a native and demands Ava as his own, saying it's an old tribal custom.

Heavenly day! First a minister's daughter, Carol Morris, wins the "Miss Universe" contest and gets a U-I contract and now a minister's wife, Marie Cheseboro, wife of the Rev. Alan Cheseboro, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Sherman Oaks, is being tested by Hal Wallis.

Mrs. Cheseboro, who is blonde, and very pretty, is a summer vacation neighbor, along with her husband, of the Wendell Coreys at Malibu. When Wendell, who is in "The Rainmaker" for Wallis, found out she has acting ambitions he told Hal about her.

Here and there:

Houseguesting with Diana Dors and her husband Dennis Hamilton in their new Beverly Hills home is Raymond, famed hair stylist and TV coiffeurist from London. He's brought with him the sketch for a new hair arrangement for Diana called — what else — "the Diana Dors do." Its for blondes only....

Valerie French has decided that movie making at Columbia in Hollywood and marriage to British script writed Michael Pertwee, in London, won't work out. They've made the separation legal....

Batomie Schneider, head of talent at Columbia, has set up a Bob Francis scholarship as a perpetual memorial to Francis, who was killed in a plane crash. It's for actors between the ages of 19 and 25 for one year....

If your feet hurt you'll appreciate these lines of dialogue from "The Burning Hills." Natalie Wood says to Tab Hunter, "What do you want out of life?" says Tab, "I just want to get to the place where I can take my boots off."

Hollywood in shorts:

Judy Garland continues to smash records at the New Frontier in Las Vegas—sensational business.

Rhonda Fleming spends her birthday Aug. 8 on the road beating the toms-toms for "Queen of Babylon," the movie she made in Italy a year and a half ago.

Edward G. Robinson checked into the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Gloria Grey sings just one number, "One Way Track," in the show at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, but it's starting to pay off big in film offers.

Crews Busy Repairing Rain-Damaged Roads

Crews of workmen of the Allegany County Roads Department have been busy repairing damage to county roads from the heavy rainfall of the past week.

Many small streams left their banks and there was a great deal of washing of debris from steep hillsides during the torrential downpour.

The major damage occurred along the Upper Flintstone Creek Road where a small creek flooded late Thursday night and early Friday morning.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Reserve Plan Informational Program Set

Parents of teen-age youth of this section will have an opportunity to get first-hand information about the eight-year Army reserve program that includes only six months of active duty.

Monday, August 6, at 8:30 p. m. in Fort Hill Stadium there will be a program featuring Charles R. Stewart, RD 3, this city, who was the first county youth to sign up under this program.

Stewart returned last week after completing his six-month tour of duty. He has signed up in the 398th Ordnance Detachment which is one of the 11 types of reserve units operating here.

For the next seven and one-half years, he will be draft exempt while he attends regular meetings and goes to summer camp with his unit.

Stewart said he spent the first eight weeks of Army service at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he was given basic training.

From there he went into ordnance and was assigned to Aberdeen Proving Ground to learn supply work.

Letters To Have 'Peace' Cancellation

Letters will be cancelled with the slogan "Pray For Peace" in the Cumberland Post Office this fall, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon announced.

The first of a group of cancellation dies bearing this slogan are being furnished to 50 of the nation's largest post offices, where the system will be put into effect August 1.

Dies for other first class post offices such as Cumberland, and second class post offices are being manufactured and will be supplied as quickly as possible.

Boston, in 1851, became the first city to have an electric fire alarm system.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, James R. Smith, who died July 26, 1951—and my son, who died 12 years ago, June 12, 1944.

They have gone across the river,
To the shores of evergreen,
How we long to see their dear faces,
But the river flows between.

Steels, Rails Pace Market To Fifth Straight Advance

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Despite another rash of late profit-taking, the stock market pushed on to its fifth straight daily advance today.

Steels and rails were the leaders on news that a settlement of the 25-day steel strike seemed imminent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $190.00, nudging to a point only $1.20 below the historic April 4 high. The industrial component was up 70 cents, the rails 20 cents and the utilities 30 cents.

For the second straight session, U.S. Steel topped the most active list. Today it gained 1⅛ at 63 on a turnover of 64,800 shares. After reaching a new high for the year of 63⅜ earlier.

Second most active was Sperry Rand, up ½ at 25¾ on 28,600 shares. Third was Republic Steel, up ⅝ at 49⅛ on 25,500 shares.

Next came Allis Chalmers, up ⅝ at 36¾ and International Harvester up 1 at 41⅛.

Of the 15 most active stocks, all showed gains except American Can which was unchanged.

Steels, Rails Pace Market To Fifth Straight Advance

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Despite another rash of late profit-taking, the stock market pushed on to its fifth straight daily advance today.

Steels and rails were the leaders on news that a settlement of the 25-day steel strike seemed imminent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $190.00, nudging to a point only $1.20 below the historic April 4 high. The industrial component was up 70 cents, the rails 20 cents and the utilities 30 cents.

A drop of 1½ by Union Pacific was damaging to the rail average.

For the second straight session, U.S. Steel topped the most active list. Today it gained 1⅛ at 63 on a turnover of 64,800 shares. After reaching a new high for the year of 63⅜ earlier.

Second most active was Sperry Rand, up ½ at 25¾ on 28,600 shares. Third was Republic Steel, up ⅝ at 49⅛ on 25,500 shares.

Next came Allis Chalmers, up ⅝ at 36¾ and International Harvester up 1 at 41⅛.

Of the 15 most active stocks, all showed gains except American Can which was unchanged.

Bloodhounds In Search For Murder Suspect

Wilson Cole, 44, Still At Large

Bloodhounds have been pressed into action in the intensified search for 44-year-old Wilson Cole, who is suspected of killing Mrs. Lena Lewis, 42, of Deep Creek. Her body was found beaten and shot Monday evening on a farm about five miles southwest of Terra Alta.

West Virginia State Police and Preston County officers, in cooperation with Maryland State Police and authorities of Garrett County, have been conducting the widespread search in the thickly wooded area of the murder scene since Monday evening.

Yesterday, bloodhounds were brought in from the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville and were put on the trail by a penitentiary guard who joined the searching party.

Preston County Prosecutor James T. Dailey, who is heading the 20-man posse along with Sheriff W. R. Schooley, said last night the search was continuing. If the bloodhounds picked up the trail, the search would go on into the night.

May Have Hopped Freight

Cole, who worked at a country store operated by the victim on Route 219 near Oakland, is believed to be hiding in the rugged and heavily wooded mountains between Terra Alta and Rowlesburg, although he may have hopped a freight of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the main line of which runs close to the scene of the murder.

Tfc. Glen D. Folk and Tfc. Robert D. Henline, of the Maryland State Police at LaVale joined in the search yesterday when they were sent to Red Run to check out a lead that Cole was hiding out in that sector. However, they were unable to locate him.

West Virginia State Police from Morgantown, Clarksburg and Shinnston have been working along with Preston and Garrett county authorities in the search.

Officers said yesterday there are many angles in the case that are not clear, and the movements of the principals remain confusing.

The victim, a widow and the mother of four children, two of them at home, was badly beaten some time early Monday morning and then shot and killed near the farm home of Cole's son, Willard Cole.

Willard told authorities that he found the victim wandering in the woods near his home on Monday afternoon, badly beaten and semi-conscious. The son drove back to his house and left her lying in the back seat of the car.

Saw Shooting

Young Cole's wife said she was out feeding livestock about 6 p. m. when she saw her father-in-law walk up to the car and shoot the victim twice.

Both the son and his wife told officers that Cole, who had a 22 calibre pistol in his possession, remained at the house until about 8 p. m. and then picked up some food and disappeared into the woods, leaving his car.

The case had its beginning at 5:30 p. m. Monday when Paul W. Fisher, sheriff of Garrett County, in Oakland was notified by relatives that Mrs. Lewis had been missing since about 11:30 p. m. Sunday when she left her store in a car in the company of Cole.

Fisher and Stephen R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney of Garrett County, went to the store where they were told by Robert Lewis, about 20, and Linda May Lewis, 17, that Cole had returned to the store about 7 a. m. Monday to get some provisions, stating he planned to make a fishing trip to Canada. He told them their mother was visiting relatives in West Virginia, but they became alarmed later in the day and contacted Fisher.

Drove To Preston County

Fisher and Pagenhardt, learning Mrs. Lewis and Cole reportedly had driven into Preston County over back roads by way of Browning Mill and Cranesville, contacted Preston County officials and arranged to meet them in Terra Alta.

It was while officials of the two counties were conferring in Terra Alta that Sheriff Schooley received a phone call from his office notifying him that Cole's son had telephoned there to report the slaying of Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lewis's body is at a Terra Alta funeral home. She was born May 26, 1914, a daughter of Mrs. Effie Everly Gauer, Terra Alta, and the late Asa J. Messenger. Surviving are two sons, Everett, of Keyser, Robert at home; two daughters, Mrs. Olive Corliss, of Deep Creek, and Linda, at home.

Also surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Clarice Burge, of Morgantown; Mrs. Virginia Carr, and Mrs. Ruby Ayersman, both of Petersburg, Fla.; Mrs. Iva Cain, of Rowlesburg; Mrs. Mary Pritt of Canton, Ohio, and four grandchildren.

It was his first trip to this area since moving to Ohio.

Man Files For $35,000 Damages

Eugene J. McGreevy, 240 North Mechanic Street, yesterday filed a $35,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Asa McDowell of Rawlings.

McGreevy, through Attorney Peter J. Carpenti, contended that he was painfully and permanently injured in an automobile accident which occurred last October 21 on U.S. Route 220.

The plaintiff said in his declaration that he was a passenger in an automobile which James J. Kloran was driving south on U.S. 220. Kloran's car was struck by McDowell's northbound vehicle.

McGreevy said he was injured about the head, body, back and limbs and especially sustained lacerations and contusions of his face, nose and forehead.

Hoosier Jailed In Car Theft

An Indianapolis driver is being held here for the Federal Bureau of Investigation after an alert state policeman spotted him driving a car that had been reported stolen in Indiana.

Francis Paul Winchester, 37, formerly of Philadelphia, was driving through LaVale Tuesday when Trooper Lindberg Cook noticed that the car he was driving had been damaged.

Suspicious, Cook stopped Winchester, found his explanations inadequate, and arrested him while police sent a teletype message to Indiana to check on the car.

Yesterday, a report came back that the car had been stolen from William J. Wright of Indianapolis. Wright was notified to come here to pick up the car.

Lt. William E. O'Hara, commander of LaVale State Police Barracks, said Winchester later told police he had had a minor accident in Indiana. He was on his way to Philadelphia, he told police.

Winchester is being held in County Jail to await action of the FBI, since the car was taken across state lines, Lt. O'Hara said.

Tax Collections Total About $70,000

About $70,000 has been collected so far in July in county, state and sanitary district real estate taxes at the office of J. Wallace Close, tax collector for District 1 of Allegany County with an office at the Court House.

Before July ends Close expects the total collections for the month to approach $100,000. A four per cent discount is allowed on county real estate taxes paid in July. In August the percentage of discount drops to three.

In June, when a five per cent discount was allowed, $1,945,577.09 was collected at Close's office. That was some three per cent above the $1,888,433.75 collected in June 1955.

Sports Car Hill Climb Attracts Champ Drivers

Early Entries Indicate Interest

Several surprises are in store for automobile and sports car fans on August 6 when the National Breakneck Hill Climb is held here, Dr. Benedict Skitarelic said last night.

He had just been in telephone conversation with National Sports Car Club officials and they expressed their amazement at the quick response to entry forms just mailed out over the past weekend. In yesterday's mail, 30 entries, some of them the top-flight drivers and sports car fans in the country, were received.

Carol Shelby of Texas, famous for the record he has piled up in European races and winner of the Wilkes Barre Hill Climb a week ago, was the first to enter the Breakneck run. He will drive his special Indianapolis Ferrari.

Jack McAfee of California, presently high point man in the country this year, and who put on quite a performance at the recent races at the local airport, has also entered. He told sports car club officials he will definitely be here and has made arrangements to have his special Porsche sports car flown here for the hill climb.

O'Shea, Johnson Enter

Paul O'Shea of New York, last year's national champion, has entered his Mercedes Benz 300SL. Sherwood Johnson, who lives in both Texas and New York, has entered his new D Jaguar.

These are among some of the top drivers who have paid their entry fees and asked for hotel accommodations, Dr. Skitarelic said.

A top surprise for the local meet, Dr. Skitarelic has been informed, is the running for the first time of General Motors' newly designed and completely rebuilt Corvette here.

General Motors officials, interested in designing a sports car that will compete with the many foreign makes, have made no secret of their program of development on the new Corvette. The local chairman was informed that the car is lighter, more powerful, newly designed and is ready for a road test. Officials have decided to enter it in the gruelling Breakneck run here and Dr. Richard Thompson of Washington, a well-known dentist and outstanding sports car driver, has been assigned to make the run.

This car, newly designed from the Corvette exhibited here some months ago, will not be available from dealers, according to present plans.

National Event

The hill climb, the second to be held here, is sanctioned as a national event by the Sports Car Club of America. The Washington Regional Sports Car Club and the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company are sponsors. Proceeds, including the entry fees of $10 per car, will go for the benefit of the Flintstone fire unit.

Firemen and other volunteers have cleared brush and weeds all along both sides of the mile-and-a-half-long Breakneck Road, which intersects US Route 40 about eight miles west of Cumberland. Arrangements for the convenience of spectators, including ample parking, easy access to and from the event, refreshments and other accommodations are being arranged.

The hill climb will begin at 11 a.m. and will end at 5 p.m. with trophies and awards to be presented on the course at 5:30 p.m. in view of the spectators.

Goldfine Receives Merit Certificates

Robert Goldfine, local photographer, has gained national recognition with two portraits which he submitted to the annual convention and trade show of the Photographers Association of America, being held this week at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

He was awarded three certificates of merit. Such a certificate is awarded to a photographer when his picture is selected to hang at the convention by a jury of the nation's most famed professional photographers.

Goldfine, who is a member of the Maryland Council of the national organization, said yesterday that this year is the first time in 10 years he has not attended a national convention. Professional phases of photography are demonstrated during the week-long meeting, he added.

Prices Down, Costs Up:

County's Farmers Grossed $1,960,000 During 1955

Allegany County farmers, confronted with the same squeeze of poorer prices and higher costs as farmers in most other parts of the country, ended 1955 with a gross farm income of $1,960,000, according to the current issue of Standard Rate and Data Service.

The report covers every county in the United States.

Allegany County's gross farm income was a drop of 6.2 per cent from the previous year's return of $2,136,000. It was a much smaller decline than was felt in some other parts of the country where it ran as high as 30 per cent.

The gross farm receipts for this county were made up principally of livestock income totalling $1,140,000 and $430,000 in crop income. Also included were government payments and the value of products grown and used on the farm.

The Standard Rate and Data Service said that what appears at first glance to be an inconsistency is the fact that despite hard times the value of farm land has been increasing.

The explanation given is that farmers know they have to increase their production efficiency if they want to make more money. That means modern machinery, which in turn calls for bigger acreage to justify it. So farmers are in the market for more land. They are outbidding each other and thus driving prices up.

Adding to this is the rising demand for land for such non-farm uses as highways, factories and housing.

Farmers are going into debt to acquire both land and equipment. Their general position is strong, however, according to the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, which points out that farm debt amounts to only 11 per cent of farm assets. Back in 1940 it was 18 per cent.

Area Farmers Obtain $26,000 In FHA Loans

Farmers in Allegany and Garrett counties obtained loans totaling more than $26,000 through the Farmers Home Administration during the year which ended June 30, according to B. Beeson Snyder, FHA supervisor in the two counties.

Repayments on loans outstanding during the year totalled over $55,000.

The agency has advanced credit to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, equipment, livestock and other farm operating items needed to place farms on an efficient operating basis or to buy and improve family-type farms.

Each loan application must be approved by the local FHA committee before funds can be advanced. The committee determines all loan applicants' eligibility and certifiese the value of farms to be purchased or improved if those actions are involved.

Applicants are approved as eligible only if other lenders cannot adequately supply their credit needs and only if prospects are favorable for their being able to improve their farming and repay their loans.

Families are expected to refinance their loans with other lenders as soon as they are in position to do so.

Funds for the 1956-1957 fiscal year are now available for loans through this agency. Snyder is in the County Agent's Office at the Court House here the first and third Monday of each month from 2 to 4 p. m.

He took the child to the hospital. Metzger said he and his wife were in the house at the time of the accident which occurred about 6 p. m. and did not witness it.

City Police said they had not been notified of the accident early last night.

End-Of-Season Bargain Festival Begins Tomorrow

An end-of-the-season sale will be conducted in Cumberland, tomorrow, Saturday and Monday by all stores of the Retail Merchants Association, according to C. William Seasholtz, president of this Chamber of Commerce affiliate.

Participating stores plan to offer attractive bargains including ample stocks of summer merchandise.

Seasholtz points out that the sale, coming toward the end of July instead of later in the season, provides attractive bargain opportunities to many people who plan vacations in August and September, as well as to others who merely want to augment their summer wardrobes at substantial savings.

Local merchants anticipate a steady upward trend in business here and want to clear their stocks to make room for fall and winter merchandise which will begin to arrive soon.

Regular store hours will be observed for this sale with stores open until 5 p. m. tomorrow, 6 p. m. on Saturday and 9 p. m. on Monday.

Lemmert Says County Will Not Jeopardize Status Of Workers

William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said last night the county plans no action to jeopardize the jobs of any of nine Health Department employes who passed from city to county jurisdiction effective July 1.

Definite action about paying the nine employes will be taken by the county commissioners Friday. Action had been deferred pending discussions by city officials.

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland yesterday passed a resolution asking the county commissioners to give the nine employes assurance as to their status regarding seniority and pay rate as proposed by a subcommittee which was organized to review the financing of Maryland health activities.

Lemmert said the county commissioners have met several times with Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, and the Mayor and City Council to work out the details of the plans concerning the health department.

The county plans to place the nine health department employes on the semi-monthly payroll, Lemmert said.

Chairman of the subcommittee which made the extensive study is Richard W. Case, Baltimore attorney. The subcommittee plan is to integrate municipal and county departments into the State Health Department by 1961.

As city employes the nine workers were under Civil Service Commission laws and under county jurisdiction they will be left without the legal protection of the Civil Service law.

Another phase which is disturbing the nine employes is the fact that when they come under the state jurisdiction, planned within five years, they will be required to take state tests in order to qualify for their positions and then would have to accept the starting rate of pay.

The present year's plan calls for reduction of the city's appropriation for health work by $8,000; followed by annual reductions of approximately $7,000 until 1961 when the city will furnish no funds unless on a voluntary basis.

As a result of this plan, which was effective July 1, the nine City and Health Department employes would transfer to county payrolls and automatically become county employes. All are under city Civil Service with certain seniority rights and since the county has no Civil Service setup, they voiced concern over loss of seniority.

Contacts were made with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, secretary to the Civil Service Board, Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan. Eves and Finan met with the group at its request, and Eves called the meeting of council yesterday to consider the employes' request that they be continued on the city payroll until July 1, 1957. In the interim, they felt they could place their case before the General Assembly and be taken under the State Merit System with recognition of past seniority and rate of pay.

Mayor Eves made such a motion yesterday but it died for want of a second. Under the order, they would have been retained on the payroll a year provided that the County Commissioners agreed and also reimbursed the city for all cost of salaries, city contributions for Social Security, State Retirement System and other costs over and above the $33,113.49 the city authorized last month for county expenses involved in the new subcommittee health department setup.

Eves said he and Finan had tried to talk the nine employes out of their proposal but he had promised to submit it and did yesterday.

The nine employes listed on the Mayor's order yesterday are Helen Hardinger, senior stenographer; Grace Hardman, Anna Hardy, Gladys Pitzer, Vauda McGann, public health nurses; Walter E. Kline, N. Harvey Shockley, W. R. E. King, sanitarians; and George C. Loeber, janitor.

Bloodhounds In Search For Murder Suspect

Wilson Cole, 44, Still At Large

Bloodhounds have been pressed into action in the intensified search for 44-year-old Wilson Cole, who is suspected of killing Mrs. Lena Lewis, 42, of Deep Creek. Her body was found beaten and shot Monday evening on a farm about five miles southwest of Terra Alta.

West Virginia State Police and Preston County officers, in cooperation with Maryland State Police and authorities of Garrett County, have been conducting the widespread search in the thickly wooded area of the murder scene since Monday evening.

Yesterday, bloodhounds were brought in from the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville and were put on the trail by a penitentiary guard who joined the searching party.

Preston County Prosecutor James T. Dailey, who is heading the 20-man posse along with Sheriff W. R. Schooley, said last night the search was continuing. If the bloodhounds picked up the trail, the search would go on into the night.

May Have Hopped Freight

Cole, who worked at a country store operated by the victim on Route 219 near Oakland, is believed to be hiding in the rugged and heavily wooded mountains between Terra Alta and Rowlesburg, although he may have hopped a freight of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the main line of which runs close to the scene of the murder.

Tfc. Glen D. Folk and Tfc. Robert D. Henline, of the Maryland State Police at LaVale joined in the search yesterday when they were sent to Red Run to check out a lead that Cole was hiding out in that sector. However, they were unable to locate him.

West Virginia State Police from Morgantown, Clarksburg and Shinnston have been working along with Preston and Garrett county authorities in the search.

Officers said yesterday there are many angles in the case that are not clear, and the movements of the principals remain confusing.

The victim, a widow and the mother of four children, two of them at home, was badly beaten some time early Monday morning and then shot and killed near the farm home of Cole's son, Willard Cole.

Willard told authorities that he found the victim wandering in the woods near his home on Monday afternoon, badly beaten and semi-conscious. The son drove back to his house and left her lying in the back seat of the car.

Saw Shooting

Young Cole's wife said she was out feeding livestock about 6 p. m. when she saw her father-in-law walk up to the car and shoot the victim twice.

Both the son and his wife told officers that Cole, who had a 22 calibre pistol in his possession, remained at the house until about 8 p. m. and then picked up some food and disappeared into the woods, leaving his car.

The case had its beginning at 5:30 p. m. Monday when Paul W. Fisher, sheriff of Garrett County, in Oakland was notified by relatives that Mrs. Lewis had been missing since about 11:30 p. m. Sunday when she left her store in a car in the company of Cole.

Fisher and Stephen R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney of Garrett County, went to the store where they were told by Robert Lewis, about 20, and Linda May Lewis, 17, that Cole had returned to the store about 7 a. m. Monday to get some provisions, stating he planned to make a fishing trip to Canada. He told them their mother was visiting relatives in West Virginia, but they became alarmed later in the day and contacted Fisher.

Drove To Preston County

Fisher and Pagenhardt, learning Mrs. Lewis and Cole reportedly had driven into Preston County over back roads by way of Browning Mill and Cranesville, contacted Preston County officials and arranged to meet them in Terra Alta.

It was while officials of the two counties were conferring in Terra Alta that Sheriff Schooley received a phone call from his office notifying him that Cole's son had telephoned there to report the slaying of Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Lewis's body is at a Terra Alta funeral home. She was born May 26, 1914, a daughter of Mrs. Effie Everly Gauer, Terra Alta, and the late Asa J. Messenger. Surviving are two sons, Everett, of Keyser, Robert at home; two daughters, Mrs. Olive Corliss, of Deep Creek, and Linda, at home.

Also surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Clarice Burge, of Morgantown; Mrs. Virginia Carr, and Mrs. Ruby Ayersman, both of Petersburg, Fla.; Mrs. Iva Cain, of Rowlesburg; Mrs. Mary Pritt of Canton, Ohio, and four grandchildren.

Sports Car Hill Climb Attracts Champ Drivers

Early Entries Indicate Interest

Several surprises are in store for automobile and sports car fans on August 6 when the National Breakneck Hill Climb is held here, Dr. Benedict Skitarelic said last night.

He had just been in telephone conversation with National Sports Car Club officials and they expressed their amazement at the quick response to entry forms just mailed out over the past weekend. In yesterday's mail, 30 entries, some of them the top-flight drivers and sports car fans in the country, were received.

Carol Shelby of Texas, famous for the record he has piled up in European races and winner of the Wilkes Barre Hill Climb a week ago, was the first to enter the Breakneck run. He will drive his special Indianapolis Ferrari.

Jack McAfee of California, presently high point man in the country this year, and who put on quite a performance at the recent races at the local airport, has also entered. He told sports car club officials he will definitely be here and has made arrangements to have his special Porsche sports car flown here for the hill climb.

O'Shea, Johnson Enter

Paul O'Shea of New York, last year's national champion, has entered his Mercedes Benz 300SL. Sherwood Johnson, who lives in both Texas and New York, has entered his new D Jaguar.

These are among some of the top drivers who have paid their entry fees and asked for hotel accommodations, Dr. Skitarelic said.

A top surprise for the local meet, Dr. Skitarelic has been informed, is the running for the first time of General Motors' newly designed and completely rebuilt Corvette here.

General Motors officials, interested in designing a sports car that will compete with the many foreign makes, have made no secret of their program of development on the new Corvette. The local chairman was informed that the car is lighter, more powerful, newly designed and is ready for a road test. Officials have decided to enter it in the gruelling Breakneck run here and Dr. Richard Thompson of Washington, a well-known dentist and outstanding sports car driver, has been assigned to make the run.

This car, newly designed from the Corvette exhibited here some months ago, will not be available from dealers, according to present plans.

National Event

The hill climb, the second to be held here, is sanctioned as a national event by the Sports Car Club of America. The Washington Regional Sports Car Club and the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company are sponsors. Proceeds, including the entry fees of $10 per car, will go for the benefit of the Flintstone fire unit.

Firemen and other volunteers have cleared brush and weeds all along both sides of the mile-and-a-half-long Breakneck Road, which intersects US Route 40 about eight miles west of Cumberland. Arrangements for the convenience of spectators, including ample parking, easy access to and from the event, refreshments and other accommodations are being arranged.

The hill climb will begin at 11 a.m. and will end at 5 p.m. with trophies and awards to be presented on the course at 5:30 p.m. in view of the spectators.

Prices Down, Costs Up:

County's Farmers Grossed $1,960,000 During 1955

Allegany County farmers, confronted with the same squeeze of poorer prices and higher costs as farmers in most other parts of the country, ended 1955 with a gross farm income of $1,960,000, according to the current issue of Standard Rate and Data Service.

The report covers every county in the United States.

Allegany County's gross farm income was a drop of 6.2 per cent from the previous year's return of $2,136,000. It was a much smaller decline than was felt in some other parts of the country where it ran as high as 30 per cent.

The gross farm receipts for this county were made up principally of livestock income totalling $1,140,000 and $430,000 in crop income. Also included were government payments and the value of products grown and used on the farm.

The Standard Rate and Data Service said that what appears at first glance to be an inconsistency is the fact that despite hard times the value of farm land has been increasing.

The explanation given is that farmers know they have to increase their production efficiency if they want to make more money. That means modern machinery, which in turn calls for bigger acreage to justify it. So farmers are in the market for more land. They are outbidding each other and thus driving prices up.

Adding to this is the rising demand for land for such non-farm uses as highways, factories and housing.

Farmers are going into debt to acquire both land and equipment. Their general position is strong, however, according to the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, which points out that farm debt amounts to only 11 per cent of farm assets. Back in 1940 it was 18 per cent.

Hoosier Jailed In Car Theft

An Indianapolis driver is being held here for the Federal Bureau of Investigation after an alert state policeman spotted him driving a car that had been reported stolen in Indiana.

Francis Paul Winchester, 37, formerly of Philadelphia, was driving through LaVale Tuesday when Trooper Lindberg Cook noticed that the car he was driving had been damaged.

Suspicious, Cook stopped Winchester, found his explanations inadequate, and arrested him while police sent a teletype message to Indiana to check on the car.

Yesterday, a report came back that the car had been stolen from William J. Wright of Indianapolis. Wright was notified to come here to pick up the car.

Lt. William E. O'Hara, commander of LaVale State Police Barracks, said Winchester later told police he had had a minor accident in Indiana. He was on his way to Philadelphia, he told police.

Area Farmers Obtain $26,000 In FHA Loans

Farmers in Allegany and Garrett counties obtained loans totaling more than $26,000 through the Farmers Home Administration during the year which ended June 30, according to B. Beeson Snyder, FHA supervisor in the two counties.

Repayments on loans outstanding during the year totalled over $55,000.

The agency has advanced credit to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, equipment, livestock and other farm operating items needed to place farms on an efficient operating basis or to buy and improve family-type farms.

Each loan application must be approved by the local FHA committee before funds can be advanced. The committee determines all loan applicants' eligibility and certifiese the value of farms to be purchased or improved if those actions are involved.

Applicants are approved as eligible only if other lenders cannot adequately supply their credit needs and only if prospects are favorable for their being able to improve their farming and repay their loans.

Families are expected to refinance their loans with other lenders as soon as they are in position to do so.

Funds for the 1956-1957 fiscal year are now available for loans through this agency. Snyder is in the County Agent's Office at the Court House here the first and third Monday of each month from 2 to 4 p. m.

Lemmert Says County Will Not Jeopardize Status Of Workers

William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said last night the county plans no action to jeopardize the jobs of any of nine Health Department employes who passed from city to county jurisdiction effective July 1.

Definite action about paying the nine employes will be taken by the county commissioners Friday. Action had been deferred pending discussions by city officials.

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland yesterday passed a resolution asking the county commissioners to give the nine employes assurance as to their status regarding seniority and pay rate as proposed by a subcommittee which was organized to review the financing of Maryland health activities.

Lemmert said the county commissioners have met several times with Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, and the Mayor and City Council to work out the details of the plans concerning the health department.

The county plans to place the nine health department employes on the semi-monthly payroll, Lemmert said.

Chairman of the subcommittee which made the extensive study is Richard W. Case, Baltimore attorney. The subcommittee plan is to integrate municipal and county departments into the State Health Department by 1961.

As city employes the nine workers were under Civil Service Commission laws and under county jurisdiction they will be left without the legal protection of the Civil Service law.

Another phase which is disturbing the nine employes is the fact that when they come under the state jurisdiction, planned within five years, they will be required to take state tests in order to qualify for their positions and then would have to accept the starting rate of pay.

The present year's plan calls for reduction of the city's appropriation for health work by $8,000; followed by annual reductions of approximately $7,000 until 1961 when the city will furnish no funds unless on a voluntary basis.

As a result of this plan, which was effective July 1, the nine City and Health Department employes would transfer to county payrolls and automatically become county employes. All are under city Civil Service with certain seniority rights and since the county has no Civil Service setup, they voiced concern over loss of seniority.

Contacts were made with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, secretary to the Civil Service Board, Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan. Eves and Finan met with the group at its request, and Eves called the meeting of council yesterday to consider the employes' request that they be continued on the city payroll until July 1, 1957. In the interim, they felt they could place their case before the General Assembly and be taken under the State Merit System with recognition of past seniority and rate of pay.

Mayor Eves made such a motion yesterday but it died for want of a second. Under the order, they would have been retained on the payroll a year provided that the County Commissioners agreed and also reimbursed the city for all cost of salaries, city contributions for Social Security, State Retirement System and other costs over and above the $33,113.49 the city authorized last month for county expenses involved in the new subcommittee health department setup

Eves said he and Finan had tried to talk the nine employes out of their proposal but he had promised to submit it and did yesterday..

The nine employes listed on the Mayor's order yesterday are Helen Hardinger, senior stenographer; Grace Hardman, Anna Hardy, Gladys Pitzer, Vauda McGann, public health nurses; Walter E. Kline, N. Harvey Shockley, W. R. E. King, sanitarians; and George C. Loeber, janitor.
